

ESTIMATES OF TREASURY ON REVENUE BILL UNDER FIRE

Questions Directed at Mellon by Democrats Show They Want Bigger Reduction Than He Advises.

PREVIOUS MISTAKE IN FIGURES CITED

House Committee Uncertain Just What the Treasury Proposes for Man of Small Income.

By CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—The end of the first day of hearings by the House Ways and Means Committee on a revenue bill for 1926, found the committee members, after listening to a 5000-word statement by Secretary Mellon and to a further elucidation of the Secretary's views by his capable young assistant, Under-Secretary Winston, floundering in a sea of doubt as to the precise measure of relief that the Treasury had in mind for the small-taxpayer.

With respect to the high surtax and the total amount of revenue that they thought should be afforded by Congress at this time, the recommendations of the Treasury officials were clear and explicit. They asked for a tax reduction of between $250,000,000 and $300,000,000 and a maximum surtax of 30 per cent to replace the present maximum of 40 per cent. The proposed schedule contemplates a reduction of the 6 per cent normal tax to 5 per cent so that the total tax on the highest incomes would be 25 per cent instead of 40 as at present.

It was estimated that revision on the lines suggested would result in a loss of $140,000,000 of revenue in the next calendar year and $100,000,000 in the following year.

Tax in Lower Brackets.

Nothing was said in the Mellon statement to indicate whether or not the Treasury desired a reduction of the tax in the lower brackets. Representative Garner of Texas, the ranking Democratic member of the committee, asked for information on that point. Under-Secretary Winston, speaking for Mellon, replied that the Treasury was suggesting that the 2 per cent normal tax on incomes up to $4000 be reduced to 1 1/2 per cent; the 4 per cent tax on incomes from $4000 to $8000 reduced to 3 per cent; and the 6 per cent tax on incomes over $8000 be reduced to 5 per cent. He added that it was not proposed to cut out the present exemption for earned income.

Representative Garner of Texas, the ranking Democratic member of the committee, asked for information on that point. Under-Secretary Winston, speaking for Mellon, replied that the Treasury was suggesting that the 2 per cent normal tax on incomes up to $4000 be reduced to 1 1/2 per cent; the 4 per cent tax on incomes from $4000 to $8000 reduced to 3 per cent; and the 6 per cent tax on incomes over $8000 be reduced to 5 per cent. He added that it was not proposed to cut out the present exemption for earned income.

Newspaper men sought enlightenment from Joseph S. McCoy, the Government actuary who worked out the estimate of $140,000,000 loss under the proposed revision. McCoy said that his calculations had eliminated the earned income provision and substituted lower normal rates, that would accomplish practically the same result.

The next step in the investigation to determine what the Treasury really meant led to the office of Under-Secretary Winston. Treasury officials here, working backward from tables which McCoy had supplied, arrived at the conclusion that the suggested reduction of 1 per cent on incomes over $100,000 and 3 per cent after that, McCoy, it was explained had fixed a flat rate that would provide an even larger reduction than that now afforded by the earned income exemption.

Severe Wintry Storm Hits Northern Michigan

Heavy Gale, With Snow Flurries, Beats Waves 30 Feet High and Ties Up Lake Shipping.

By the Associated Press.
PETOSKEY, Mich., Oct. 20.—One of the worst fall storms in years is sweeping Petoskey and Northern Michigan today, a gale being accompanied by snow flurries and lower temperatures.

Lake craft crowd the harbors for shelter, fearing a face the blow. Many lake wharves have been damaged by the beating waves which in Little Traverse Bay have reached a height of from 30 to 40 feet.

The large Government pier that shelters the Petoskey harbor is not expected to survive the storm. The breakwater is crumbling under the force of the waves and the shore line is strewn with timbers.

The 102 foot elevator tower recently erected at the Petoskey

Portland Cement Company plant was destroyed yesterday.

The storm, which at times takes the appearance of a blizzard and again a cyclone, has destroyed road signs, trees and other property.

Navigation has halted completely. More than a foot of snow has fallen in Marquette county in the upper peninsula, and in some places the snow has drifted several feet deep.

LAWRENCE RESIGNS HIS INSURANCE POSTS

Quits as Officer and Director of Missouri Life and as Officer of Bank.

Thomas Fisher Lawrence, who was trapped by his wife in a Chicago hotel, Aug. 14, last with Mrs. Julia Gruner, has resigned as vice-president and member of the Board of Directors of the Missouri State Life Insurance Co., and from the vice-presidency of the Insurance Bank of St. Louis, which has an official personnel almost identical with that of the insurance company.

M. E. Singleton, president of the company, today said he had accepted Lawrence's resignation at the latter's insistence, Friday last. "Mr. Lawrence's resignation was accepted with regret," he said. "In his connection with this company, he proved himself to be a competent and efficient official."

It is understood that Lawrence's resignation was twice refused before it was accepted. Singleton said that he did not propose to appoint a successor to Lawrence and would take over the work of the senior vice-president's office himself.

Lawrence, who transferred his personal belongings from his home at 5387 Pershing avenue to the Gateway Hotel after he returned to St. Louis, is now in Chicago assisting in the appeal of himself and Mrs. Gruner from the 30-day workhouse sentences which were passed upon them Oct. 1 by Judge Helander in the Chicago Municipal Court. They were granted a 30-day stay of execution when sentence was passed.

GIANT CAMEL BONES FOUND

New Fossil Area of Pleistocene Age in South Central Oregon.

By the Associated Press.
BEND, Ore., Oct. 20.—Buried ages ago in the soft sands of the work of the Pleistocene lakes which spread over a considerable part of South Central Oregon, fossilized bones of huge camels, which lived thousands of years ago, have been found by Dr. L. Packard of the University of Oregon geology faculty.

Dr. Packard believes that the newly found fossil locality is rich in remnants of faunal life. It is his opinion that fossils of mammoths, strange birds and many creatures now extinct will be found.

Buses to Replace Trolleys.

HEALTH MENACE IN INFECTED FOOD DESCRIBED HERE

Dr. F. C. Blanck, Washington, Tells Convention of Investigations and Discoveries.

TYPHOID EPIDEMIC TRACED TO OYSTERS

Paratyphoid and Scarlet Fever Borne by Polluted Raw Milk—Speaker Cites Cases.

Two outstanding discoveries in the field of public health, traceable to food infection, were described yesterday at the first general session of the American Public Health Association, holding its fifty-fourth annual convention at Hotel Statler.

An oyster-borne typhoid fever outbreak and a scarlet fever epidemic attributable to infected milk were thus enumerated by an authority, F. C. Blanck, Ph. D., of Washington, whose address on "The Year's Work in the Food and Drug Field," summarized, in effect, the progress made during the year by this body of public health officers, physicians, scientists and hygienists in endeavoring to promote public health.

The relationship of infected foods to illness has always attracted attention among public health officials. Dr. Blanck pointed out. The oyster-borne typhoid fever outbreak, occurring in December, 1924, attracted nation-wide attention and practical attention to general refusal to use this food, he recalled.

Paratyphoid in Milk.

In the milk-borne infected scarlet fever outbreak, the speaker related that of 55 cases, 38 were definitely traced to this cause, the remaining 17 due to personal contact. An outbreak of 21 cases of typhoid fever was reported at Lincoln Memorial University, Tennessee, due to infected raw milk. An outbreak of paratyphoid fever, occurring in 1924, was traced to a carrier of the bacillus, a milkman on a farm supplying certified milk. Similarly, a typhoid outbreak among customers of a cafeteria, was traced to a milk deliveryman.

A food poisoning outbreak at West Virginia University, an enteric infection, also was reported. "The past year has also experienced another outbreak of botulism at Solon, O., in which there were two cases, both resulting in death, due to canned sardines infected with the botulinus organism."

CROSS TO BE SEEN 15 MILES

Work of Installation on Chicago Methodist Temple Begun.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—The cross of the Methodist Temple, towering above Chicago's loop 565 feet, the loftiest thing in the city, will become the first visible sign of the city to the approaching traveler. When workmen have completed the installation of floodlights, which started yesterday.

The flood lighting will cover the entire tower, spire and cross and under favorable conditions, the spire and cross will be visible for 15 miles when the 195 projector units have been set in place. The spire is 150 feet high and the cross 15 feet high, both extending almost the total 165 feet above any other structure in Chicago.

HOOPER, SECRETARY OF OPTIMISM

Miss Whitney sent word from the writers' colony on the coast near Monterey, where she is living, that she would give herself up, as a consequence of the refusal of the United States Supreme Court to accept jurisdiction in her case. She was arrested just after she had addressed a public meeting, admitting her participation in the organization of a communist-labor party in California.

Specifically, Miss Whitney violated that provision of the law which makes any person guilty of a felony, who "organizes or is a member of any organization teaching criminal syndicalism." Syndicalism for the purposes of the law is any doctrine teaching or aiding the commission of crime, sabotage or unlawful acts of force or violence, or unlawful methods of terrorism as a means of accomplishing a change in industrial ownership or control on any political change.

Miss Whitney, who has been at liberty under $10,000 bond, continued in her defense that she never had advocated violence in procuring governmental changes and that the communist-labor party did not urge such violence.

Attorneys for Miss Whitney indicated they would try to have her case reopened in the Supreme Court. Failing success in that effort, only clemency from the Governor can save her from serving the prison term.

Miss Whitney was vice president of the National Women's Suffrage Association, president of the College Suffrage League, the California Civic League, the California branch of American College Alumnae, and prominent in many other organizations.

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 20.—Authorities are awaiting the surrender of Miss Charlotte Anita Whitney, social worker and a pioneer suffragist of California, to serve a term of one to 14 years in San Quentin State prison, to which she was sentenced five years ago after conviction on a charge of violating the criminal syndicalism act.

Miss Whitney sent word from the writers' colony on the coast near Monterey, where she is living, that she would give herself up, as a consequence of the refusal of the United States Supreme Court to accept jurisdiction in her case. Any Acts of Violence Are to Be Severely Punished, He Warns.

By the Associated Press.
ROME, Oct. 20.—The National Fascist Council under the chairmanship of Premier Mussolini, has forbidden the carrying of arms or canes in Fascist processions. Announcement also was made at the council meeting last evening that any person found guilty of an act of violence while engaging in such a procession would be severely dealt with.

Secretary Farinacci outlined the measures taken to purge the party of undesirable elements who attempted to take the law into their own hands on the plea that they were defending the Fascist cause. Instructions were sent to all branches of the party emphasizing the importance of retaining a high standard of discipline.

THOMAS F. MANVILLE, 'ASBESTOS KING,' DIES

Millionaire Manufacturer Expires Unexpectedly of Heart Disease at 63.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Thomas F. Manville, "Asbestos King," whose fortune has been estimated to exceed $10,000,000, died last night of heart disease in his apartment at Hotel Plaza, where he had lived alone for the last three years. He was 63 years old.

For years he was president of Johns Manville Inc. and he changed his position about a year ago to chairman of the board of directors. He was a director of various other corporations.

Manville was divorced at Boise, Idaho, in 1909, and to Mrs. Manville was awarded the custody of a daughter, Thomas F. Manville Jr., who has figured in print on several occasions as the result of marital difficulties and differences with his father therefrom.

Beyond leaving at the hotel desk a note announcing Manville's death, members of the Manville family, who were present when he died, made no statement. An assistant manager of the Plaza said Manville had returned to the hotel a few hours before his death and gone directly to his apartment. He appeared to be in normal health.

Soon after Manville went to his apartment a waiter reported to the hotel management that the financier had been taken ill and the house physician was called. Shortly afterward Manville's personal physician, who had been treating him for heart trouble and high blood pressure for several months arrived.

BRITISH TO QUIT COLOGNE WHEN PACTS ARE RATIFIED

Some of Troops, Expected to Be Withdrawn in 3 Months, Will Go to Other Sectors of Rhine.

WAR NOT WHOLLY OUTLAWED BY TERMS

Machinery Set Up, However, for Arbitration of Disputes That Diplomacy Cannot Settle.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 20.—The first practical result of the Locarno security pact will be the withdrawal of the British troops from the Cologne bridgehead. It is stated in official quarters, and this should be accomplished within three months.

(This serves to corroborate unofficial expressions made in Paris yesterday, based on the interview there between the British Foreign Secretary, Austen Chamberlain, and the French Premier, M. Painleve.)

The authorities in London expect that Germany, taking advantage of the terms of the pact, shortly will hand to Great Britain a report on the conditions in the Cologne area, after which it is anticipated the British Government will order the removal of its 9000 occupational troops to other areas held by the allies along the Rhine.

Great Britain will not withdraw from the Rhine, it is stated, but will continue to be represented with the French and Belgians as long as troops are kept on German soil. The British force of 9000, however, probably will be reduced by half.

Returning from Locarno, Austen Chamberlain, the British Foreign Secretary, was welcomed upon his arrival at the Victoria Station this evening by a distinguished gathering of Government members and diplomats.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The first reaction to the text of the Locarno treaties was surprise at the extent to which the Germans gave ground and the French views were endorsed.

In this connection, British semi-official comment stresses the fact that the text of the final protocol by the phrase "it is not to be changed" makes it impossible for Berlin to demand modification after final signature in London, Dec. 1. While Berlin has carefully reserved the right to reject the treaties, they must be taken or left as they stand.

The main point on which France is held here to have triumphed is in having won a free hand to help Poland against Germany.

The fact that Great Britain signed the treaties without the Dominions' consent, and is leaving the Dominions the right to stipulate themselves out of the contract if they wish, also arouses much comment. The only possibility of wrecking the Locarno results, in informed opinion here, is in the Nationalist outbursts in Germany.

Summaries of Treaties Drafted as Locarno.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—London awoke today to find emblazoned on the front pages of the newspapers the text of the momentous decisions reached at Locarno.

The security pact guarantees inviolability of the French, Belgian and German frontiers.

There are also treaties between Germany and France, Germany and Belgium, Germany and Poland and between France and Belgium, and between France and Belgium, Eastern allies and between Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Germany is to set up machinery for the arbitration of disputes which cannot be ironed out through ordinary diplomatic handling.

The engagements between France and Poland and Czechoslovakia provide that if Germany shall have recourse to arms against any of the three, it creates war in the demilitarized Rhineland zone, while on their parts, France

CITES 'DISGRACE' IN STAND OF U. S. ON WORLD COURT

Attorney William F. Woerner Addresses League of Women Voters at Hotel Chase.

The working of the World Court, its history and organization were discussed at Hotel Chase yesterday afternoon by William F. Woerner in the first of a series of three public talks to be given this week on the World Court to the League of Women Voters.

Woerner, member of the St. Louis bar and author of a book published contemporaneously with the American entry into the World War in advocacy of such a tribunal, began by tracing the evolution of the present World Court from distinctly American conceptions and activities, notably in the two Hague conferences of 1899 and 1907.

He then called attention to the fact that Elihu Root dominated the statute creating this tribunal, and, although the United States has not yet given adherence to it, the fact that the American jurist, John Bassett Moore, was chosen as one of the leading judges.

Woerner maintained that the principles underlying the organization of the World Court are, essentially, a world-wide enlargement to international relations of the same principles that apply in the United States Supreme Court to interstate relations.

"Reign of Reason," the international court, he says, heralds the reign of reason to settle disputes between nations. Tracing the origin and history of this "Permanent Court of International Justice," the speaker pointed out that under a provision of the covenant of the League of Nations, the council appointed an advisory committee of jurists which drafted the plan, which, with slight amendments, was adopted by the nations composing the league, and the court was organized and held its first meeting in January, 1922.

The plan for the selection of the 11 judges and four deputy judges he considered the best that could have been devised. Nominations are made not by the league, but by the Court of Arbitration at The Hague, a wholly independent body of 132 members of different national groups.

The judges are then elected by a majority vote of both Council and Assembly of the League, acting separately. The judges must be "a body of independent judges, elected, regardless of their nationality," and be "jurists of recognized competence in international law," and the Court must apply "the principle legal systems of the world."

Law Governing Decisions. In its decisions the court must apply the law as agreed between the contending states, general custom, international law and judicial precedents of the most highly qualified publicists of the various nations. Adherence to the court is open to all nations, whether they are in the League of Nations or not.

Woerner explained that the jurisdiction of the court is over disputes of an international character which the parties thereto submit to it, and the giving of advisory opinions upon disputes referred to it by the council or league. The method of procedure is largely patterned after that of American Appellate Courts, providing for notice, arguments and briefs.

It is important to note, he said, that so far as the United States are affected, the court has no jurisdiction unless the parties voluntarily invoke it in each particular case. There is, however, a provision that any nation may, if it chooses, give the court compulsory jurisdiction in all disputes concerning the interpretation of treaties, international law, breach of international obligations and reparations.

"Twenty-three nations have already accepted this clause," said Woerner, "either absolutely or on certain conditions, so that at least as to these the age-long dream of law decisions instead of war decisions has already been realized."

No Longer an Experiment. "Only through the present World Court can this be done. The court is no longer an experiment. It is a functioning tribunal. In the last three years it has rendered four full-fledged judgments, and given 11 advisory opinions on international affairs. All its decisions have been accepted as final by the nations concerned."

"No nation invoking its jurisdiction can ever afford to defy its decisions, for every nation knows that its contentions thereafter would be damned at the bar of world opinion, without the approval of which no nation can ever again hope by force to vindicate its cause. With or without our adherence, the court will continue to function and develop. But when to it is given the prestige of this, by far the most powerful nation on earth, its early and brilliant success is sure of achievement."

"It is a disgrace to America that we are not its foremost champion, and our country cannot much longer delay adherence."

The speaker then showed that every debatable objection had been met by the five reservations proposed by President Harding and Coolidge upon entry, being (1) complete independence from any obligation to the league, (2) equal voice in election of judges, (3) self-determination as to expenses, (4) no amendment to protocol without our consent, (5) non-binding character of advisory opinions unless requested by the United States.

Sessions of the League of Women Voters will be held Wednesday and Friday, at 3:45 p. m., at Hotel Chase. Or Wednesday the Rev. Father Russell Wilbur will

MEETING CALLED TO END CLAYTON ROAD DISPUTE

Agreement Between City and County on Cost of Resurfacing Likely to Be Reached Today.

An agreement for the immediate resurfacing of Clayton road between Pennsylvania avenue and North and South road is expected at a meeting this afternoon between the Board of Estimate for the city and the County Court to be held in Comptroller Nolte's office.

The road, one of the main arteries between city and county, has been closed to safe travel since last spring when the city tore it up in laying mains from its new water-works on the Missouri River.

The laying of the mains was completed three months ago and the road since has remained unfit for travel because the city and county could not agree upon terms for its reconstruction.

The dispute apparently had reached a deadlock, with the city offering $12,000 for repairs and the county asking $16,500. Following an editorial in the Post-Dispatch that the sum involved was infinitesimal compared with the public inconvenience through loss of use of the road, this newspaper inquired of both sides whether conference could not settle the dispute.

Judge William Fries of the County Court said he thought conference would result in speedy settlement. This was concurred in by Comptroller Nolte, who today, after conference with Mayor Miller, invited the County Court to meet the Board of Estimate.

Roy Jablonsky, county engineer, and Director of Public Safety Wall will participate in the conference.

19-HOUR BATTLE OF GREEKS AND BULGARIANS REPORTED

Other Sources Fail to Confirm Athens Dispatch on Fighting on Macedonian Frontier.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 29.—An Athens dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph says fighting has been in progress for the last 19 hours on the Greek-Bulgarian frontier, near Demthissar. There is no confirmation of this report from other sources.

According to the dispatch, Bulgarians attacked a Greek post near Demthissar, killing a Greek official. When a Greek Captain went out with a white flag he was shot dead. A general engagement then developed.

Demthissar is in Macedonia, 45 miles northeast of Saloniki.

HOW TO GET YOUR STOMACH RIGHT—QUICKLY

Don't Starve Yourself or Diet—Let "EATONIC" do the Work and Be Sure of Results.

Too many people with weak, ailing stomachs rely on dieting to put them right. If they planned their faith to EATONIC Tablets, they would not be disappointed.

What is EATONIC? Any druggist will tell you that it is a wonderful natural stomach tonic and corrective.

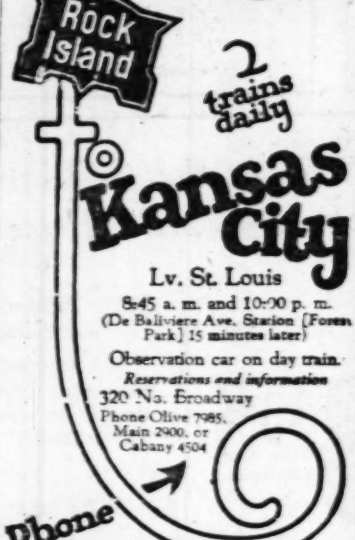

This remarkable preparation will help you to digest anything you eat and regulate a sour, "gassy" acid stomach in a few minutes. EATONIC has proved in thousands of tests its ability to quickly relieve dyspepsia and indigestion.

Chew an EATONIC Tablet after each meal and you will be quickly freed from stomach troubles. No more "heart burn," no sour "risings," no belching of indigested food mixed with acid, no nausea, headache, fullness or heavy "lumpy" feeling after meals. EATONIC will swiftly and surely relieve all these disagreeable conditions.

Ask your druggist for a 50c box of EATONIC today. It will give you relief from stomach misery in a few minutes, and will assist you to overcome the worst case of dyspepsia or indigestion in a very short time.

Chicago newspaper man, Whitaker was not represented. Miss Claire did not ask alimony.

Good bye that "All-in" feeling!

One of the most noticeable effects of Internal Bathing with the J. B. L. Cascade is that wonderful feeling of refreshment. You feel invigorated. Active, keen-minded—steps ahead of your fellow men.

Note what Mr. Oscar S. Malm, 1319 Q Street, Lincoln, Nebr. (one of the 800,000 who bathe internally to perpetuate fine health) says:

"My eyesight and complexion have improved and that tired feeling has been driven away. Am much more capable of thinking and acting quickly." Many a business failure is due to ill health. Many a man in the rut owes his position to sluggishness created by intestinal poisons. Don't let unsuspected physical conditions drag you down. Go today to the drug store named below and get a FREE copy of that wonderful booklet, "Why We Should Bathe Internally." Read it—from cover to cover.

Boyd's Subway's Great Double-Header Clothing Sale

The greatest quantity of clothing the Subway has ever assembled for a Double-Header Sale is ready for your selection at these low prices.

By selling two garments instead of one we can reduce the price even lower than the Subway's unusually low prices. The Double-Header Sale may be two Suits, two Overcoats, or a Suit and Overcoat from the same price group or from two different price groups.

When a sale is made from two different groups the price of each will be one-half the double-header price.

Two persons may each make a single selection, provided one sale is made for both.

Lot No. 1
$25 and $30
Gabardines, Topcoats, Overcoats

2 for $35

Satin-lined Gabardines—three-piece belts. Box-back Topcoats; many silk lined; desirable colors. Warm Overcoats, half and full belted; some plaid backs in the lot.

Lot No. 3
$35
Two-Trouser Suits, Overcoats

2 for $47

Desirable Two-Trouser Suits, single and double-breasted models; good color and fabric selection. Well-tailored Overcoats; many are plaid backed; beltless, half belt and full belted models.

$2.50 and $3.00
Knit Union Suits
$1.65
3 for $4.50

Flat and ribbed styles; long and half sleeves; whites and ecru. These are slight seconds from a well-known maker.

Lot No. 2
$30 and $35
Suits and Topcoats

2 for $41

Box-back Topcoats, satin-lined; new this season's patterns and colors.

The Suits are the surplus stock of a well-known manufacturer. Many are silk-lined. Good woollens, well tailored; this season's new models.

Lot No. 4
$40
Two-Trouser Suits, Overcoats

2 for $57

These two-trouser Suits include fine worsteds, serges, chevots and casimers. Conservative and young men's models. Single and double-breasted styles. Plain blues, stripes and a variety of other good patterns. The Overcoats are single and double-breasted box models. The majority are plaid-backed. Good selection of colors and finely tailored.

DEMOCRATS QUESTION MELLON'S ESTIMATES ON TAX PROGRAM

spoke for themselves, proving that an actual reduction for the small taxpayer, whatever the percentages might be, was contemplated along with the proposed slash in the high surtaxes.

It was evident from the conflicting statements of the Treasury officials that most of the thought which had gone into the making of the Mellon statement had concerned itself with the question of the high surtaxes. The statement was built up around the thesis that business would be stimulated by a lowering of the high surtaxes, and that the resultant prosperity would seep down to the wage earners. As the Secretary put it, his plan would mean "more $5000 jobs to go around."

The Secretary's statement, between the lines, said that the little fellow had received his tax reduction in the 1924 bill and that it was now the turn of the big taxpayer. He emphasized the view that any tax relief at the top would result in great indirect benefit to all the rest of the taxpayers.

Sharp Fight in Prospect. Questions put to Mellon, as well as comments on his statement by Garner and other Democrats, made it clear that a sharp fight over the terms of the tax bill is in store. Garner, who thinks that an immediate tax cut of $500,000,000 ought to be made, intimated that the Republican administration, in seeking to hold the reduction down to half that figure, is moved by the desire to retain a part of the Mellon for cutting on the eve of the next Presidential election.

Garner is out for the biggest possible reduction at present—a reduction that he would spread liberally through the lower brackets. The Mellon plan, he says, benefits the big taxpayers and leaves the rest in the lurch. Two lines of attack which the Democrats will follow, he says, come apparent. They will question the authenticity of the treasury's estimates of revenue and will endeavor to make a greater surplus available by slowing up payments on the national debt.

Asked About Mistake. The ground-work for an attack on the estimates was laid yesterday by representative Rainey, of Illinois. In a series of questions addressed to Mellon. With reference to Mellon's estimate of a surplus of $200,000,000 for 1925, Rainey recalled that in a statement to the committee while the bonus fight was in progress Mellon cited a prospective deficit of $200,000,000 as one reason why no extraordinary expenditures should be undertaken by the government, and later, after the bonus had been beaten, discovered a surplus of $200,000,000.

"In other words," said Rainey, "you were mistaken in your estimates for 1923, to the extent of $500,000,000. How did your department happen to make this mistake?"

Increase in Receipts. Undersecretary Winston replied that there had been a decrease in expenditures and an increase in receipts.

Rainey remarked that in making its estimates of that kind the Treasury did not use the figures of McCoy, who had just been complimented by Mellon, but relied upon those of other statisticians. He wanted to know why McCoy's statistics were ignored.

"We have always used them," said Winston.

"Mr. McCoy says they were not used in that year," retorted Rainey.

The matter was allowed to drop at that point. It was clear from Rainey's attitude, however, that he intends, with other Democrats, to make capital of the Treasury's mistaken 1923 estimates in the endeavor to cast discredit on those given the committee yesterday.

The polite hazing of Mr. Mellon was not confined to the members of the opposition party. Chairman Green, Republican, said that while he agreed with the Secretary that surtax reduction was desirable, he felt that the increased returns cited by the Secretary as having resulted from previous reductions were really caused by a growth of the national income.

"Oh, no," said Garner, sarcas-

Seven-Day Furniture Sale

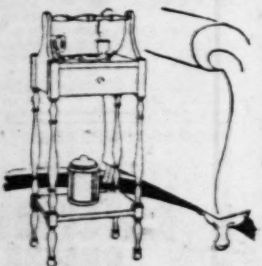

THE Seven-Day Furniture Sale, which starts tomorrow, is a semi-annual event of vast importance to home-makers. People who want beautiful and substantial Furniture—in suites or occasional pieces—will find in this sale an opportunity to purchase at exceedingly attractive prices, and on very convenient terms.

IN order to offer such values, it was necessary for us to make immense purchases, especially for this sale. This gives a further advantage to our patrons in offering a remarkably large variety from which to choose. Here are just a few of the hundreds of interesting values which are presented in this sale.

5-Pc. Breakfast Set
$29.75

The fashionable gray Duco finish is used on this Suite. The table measures 36x42 inches closed; opened, 36x42.

Smoking Set
$6.95

Mahogany finish. Fitted with glass jar on lower shelf, roomy drawer at top, and metal match holder, cigar rests and glass ash dish. Exceptional value.

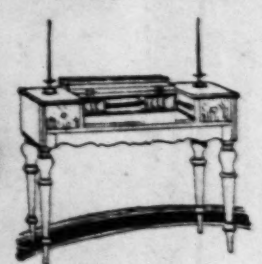

English Lounge Chair
$39.75

An extremely comfortable Chair is this of the English lounge type. Covered in tapestry and equipped with loose spring-filled cushions.

Coxwell Chair
$37.50

An excellent grade of tapestry is used in this Chair of popular Queen Anne style. It is particularly roomy and comfortable.

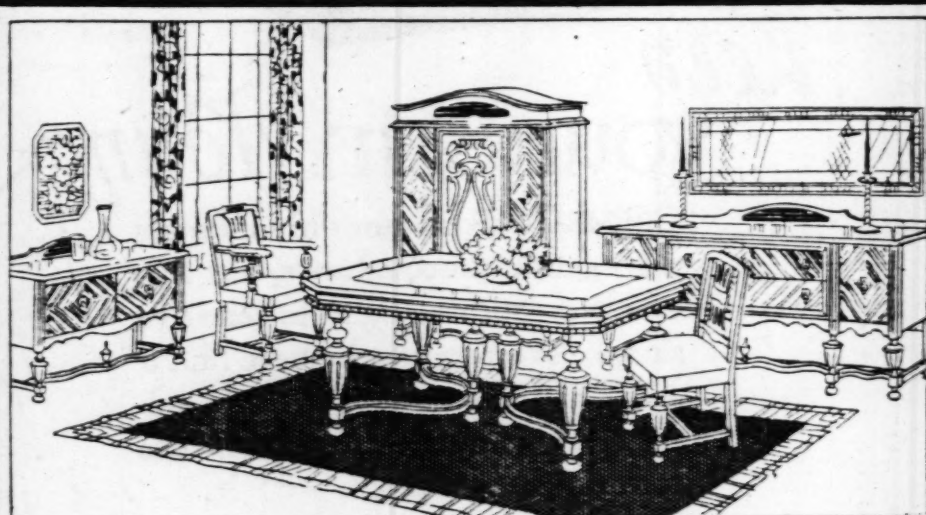

Spinet Desk
$34.75

A truly important value—this Spinet Desk. It has two side drawers and a middle drawer, and several pigeonholes. Mahogany or walnut finish.

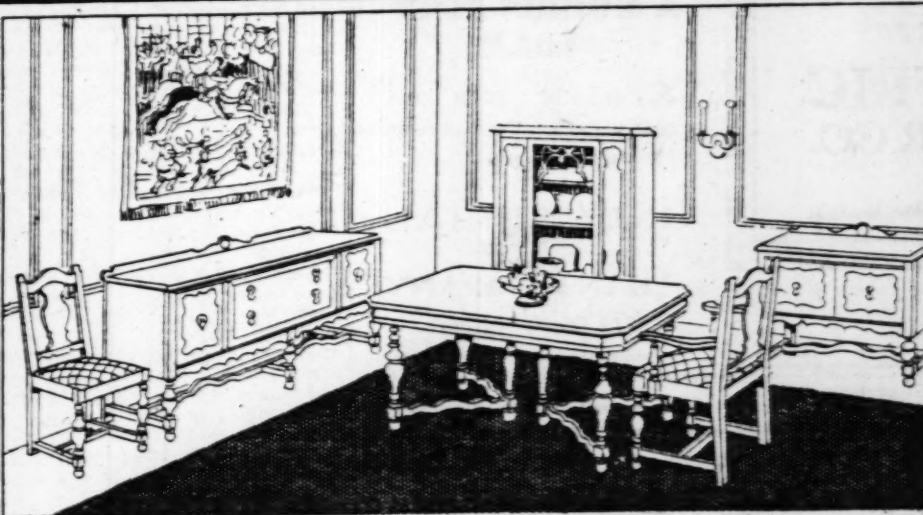

Double Deck Coil
Bed Spring
$13.95

Made of high tempered premium wire, with each coil joined at top with small ball-springs, which are noiseless. Gray baked enamel finish. Double and twin sizes at this low price.

Nine-Piece Dining-Room Suite, $239.50
Richly Veneered in Walnut . . .

A distinctive Suite is created through a new type of American walnut veneers used in the panels of this graceful group of furniture. There are nine pieces—66-inch buffet, 8-foot extension table, china cabinet, armchair and five side chairs. Server to match, $35 additional.

Excellent Built Eight-Piece Suite for the Dining Room . . . $145.00

It is decorative as well, with veneers of 5-ply walnut and genuine oak drawer interiors. A roomy buffet, extension table with a top 45x60, armchair and five side chairs comprise this delightful Suite. China cabinet to match, $36.50; server, $19.75.

Beautiful Louis Sixteenth Three-Piece Bedroom Suite . . . $159.50

The new Van Dyke brown walnut or French walnut may be had in this graceful Suite. Dresser with 50-inch top, choice of large chiffonette or highboy, and bow-foot bed are included. The entire construction is dust-proof. Vanity dresser may be added for $79.50.

Four-Piece Bedroom Suite in a Combination of Veneers . . . $375.00

Beautifully figured Veneers of butt walnut and maple are used most effectively in this Suite; the drawer bottoms are mahogany. The pieces consist of dresser, vanity, double bow-end bed, and choice of chiffonette or chiffonette. An exquisite Suite at an unusual price.

This Living-Room Suite Is an Extraordinary Value at . . . $249.00

A distinguished Suite of graceful lines made especially for Stix, Baer & Fuller. The two pieces have solid mahogany frames at top and base, and are upholstered in a fine quality taupe mohair. The loose spring-filled cushions are reversed in silk brocatelle and moss edged.

Two-Piece Living-Room Suite, Upholstered in Mohair . . . $187.50

A value indeed unusual is offered in this Suite, with its attractive carving at base, arms and top. It is upholstered in plain taupe mohair with reversible cushions and is a charming example of the Louis Fifteenth period. Wing chair to match is priced at $64.50.

Convenient Terms of Payment May Be Arranged

Furniture selected now will be held for future delivery without charge for storage. Thus you may enjoy the benefit of this sale, even though you do not require the furniture until later.

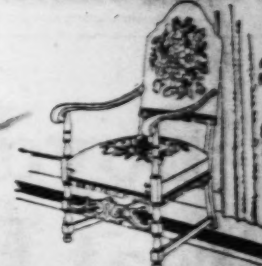

Our convenient payment plan offers a means of purchasing fine furniture on a dignified and systematic payment basis. You are cordially invited to inquire regarding this helpful arrangement.

Both old homes and new homes will find furniture to meet their individual needs. At these sale prices, the money planned to cover just a few pieces will now purchase considerably more.

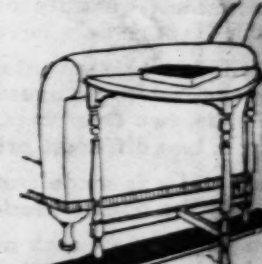

Colonial Secretary

tically, "you must remember that all that was due to a reduction in the higher surtaxes."

Mellon Cool and Reserved.

Mellon, the incarnation of coldness and reserve, read his statement in a barely audible voice and then asked the committee if they had any questions. Undersecretary Winston at once took his place at the Secretary's side. Sometimes Mellon would reply, but much often he would nod to Winston and the latter would act as spokesman. Garner addressed some of his questions to "Mr. Secretary or Mr.
Winston." Mellon remained utterly imperturbable throughout. Winston fenced adroitly with his questions.

The high spot of the Mellon statement was the recommendation that the maximum tax be fixed at 25 per cent. It was brought out under questioning that he desired the surtax to begin at 1 per cent on $12,000 and run on a graduated scale to 20 per cent on $50,000 and above. The top point is now 40 per cent, beginning on incomes of $500,000.

Mellon said that the suggested slash could be made "without the slightest danger to our future revenues," that it would, in fact, "insure the source from which we expect to get our revenue in the future."

Mellon said that the safe figure by which taxes could be reduced was between $250,000,000 and $300,000,000. Revenue should not be cut "beyond the reasonable requirements of the Government."

He opposed the suggestion that the public debt be retired more slowly.

"This country is today exceedingly prosperous," he said. "It can afford to pay off its debts without undue burden upon its taxpayers. Its history has always been prompt extinguishment of its war debts. It is ready for the next emergency when it comes.
The time to repair your roof is in good weather, not when it is raining. The time to pay your debts is when you can."

Defending his proposed surtax reductions, Mellon said that similar reductions in the past had been reflected in increased tax collections.
More money would be collected in 1925 at lower rates, he said, than was collected in 1923 at higher rates. He said that business would be stimulated by further reduction,
and added:

"It seems to me quite clear that a man with a $3000 job, who, if married and without dependents, pays a tax of but $7.50 under the present law, or a man with a $5000 job, who, under the same conditions, pays a tax of $37.50 is more interested in having the job than in having his taxes further reduced.
What we mean by tax reform is to make more of these jobs."

Mellon reiterated his opinion that the Federal estate tax and the gift tax should be repealed.

Favors Auto Tax.
Admissions and dues, he said,
brought in $21,000,000 last year and were estimated to yield $33,- 000,000 this year. He favored retention of this tax, which operates on all admission costing over 50 cents.

Mellon said that automobile taxes could be roughly divided into $90,000,000 on automobiles and $35,000,000 on trucks, tires and accessories. He thought that the $25,000,000 might be taken off, but argued that since the Government is spending more than $90,000,000 on roads, the automobiles that use

$50 per Box
For powder... I'll pay it
By Edna Wallace Hopper

For years and years I paid $5 per box for my powders. I would have paid $50. Living in the limelight, as I do, I consider powder so important.
But the best powder I ever found —the powder that cost me $5 per box—is now placed at your command.
Toilet counters everywhere supply it in my name. "The price is 50c and $1.
There are two types. One I call my Youth Cream Powder. That has my Youth Cream base. I use it always because it clings and stays.
But many of my friends prefer a light and fluffy powder, so I supply both kinds, in four shades.

I tried hundreds of face powders in my search for the best. What I offer you is the best I've found. All my friends on the stage now use it. They don't care what they pay. I never met a woman who knew a powder that compared.

Let me send you a sample. My latest beauty book will come with it. Let me tell you how I gained my beauty, how I've kept my youth. And present you at the same time the greatest powder in existence.

Mile of Buses to Carry Cadets.
By the Associated Press.
WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Forty motor buses stretching along the highway for a mile will carry the entire West Point cadet corps to New Haven, Saturday, Oct. 21, for the annual football game between the Army and Yale in the Yale Bowl. This is the first time in the history of the academy, except when leaving on a march, that the corps of cadets has left other than by train.

FRENCH CHARGED WITH ATROCITIES IN SYRIAN WAR

Delegate From That Country Makes Complaint of Terrorism to League Mandates Commission.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

GENEVA, Oct. 20.—The League of Nations mandates commission, which convened yesterday, will call on the French to answer serious charges of misgovernment in Syria, according to Emir Chekib Arslan, delegate from Syria.

Arslan appeared before the commission on behalf of the Druses and Syrians with a report laying bare startling atrocities attributed to the French forces, which have been fighting Druse rebels.

One telegram, which Arslan submitted declares that armed bands in the vicinity of Damascus, Oct. 3 and 4, killed hundreds of old men, women and children refugees. The village of Harasta, Melilla, Gestrine, Belate, Geramama, Bata, Kafaratus and Sakba were destroyed by fire, he said, although they were not involved in the rebellion.

Terror reigns in Damascus every thousands of refugees arrive every day and crowd the mosques seeking protection, Arslan declared. His appeal calls upon the league to end the oppression in the name of civilization and humanity.

Inquiry Promised.
Marquis Theodoli, president of the commission, assured Arslan that consideration of the French report on administration of the mandate would be postponed pending an inquiry. It is understood consideration of the British reports on Palestine, Mosul and Transjordan will be postponed on account of the disorders.

Arslan, on behalf of the Rifians of Morocco as well as the Druses, has addressed messages to President Coolidge and Senator Borah, saying:

"France has not ceased for seven years to attempt to stifle and subjugate forcibly the patriotic aspirations of the Syrian peoples whom the allies promised liberty and independence. Now she is sending an expedition to repress a legitimate uprising of Druses, who have taken up arms in defense of their liberties. Syria is not a French colony, but a mandate from the league."

American Mediation Requested.
Arslan requests the United States to offer her good offices for mediation between the French and Druses and also to send sanitary missions to the Rifians and Druses to mitigate the suffering of non-combatants.

It is understood that consideration of the British report regarding the administration of Iraq is to be postponed pending settlement of the Mosul frontier. The situation in Mesopotamia is considered serious, but it is hoped the league mission, due there Nov. 1, will arrive in time to prevent conflict.

FURNITURE FIRM SUES ESTATE OF E. A. LANGAN FOR $125,431
—Son of Company's Founder Says Action is a Formal One

For Adjustments.

A claim for $125,431.04 was filed in Probate Court at Clayton yesterday against the estate of Edward A. Langan by the Edward A. Langan Furniture Co., 2004 Mofgan street, a corporation, which he founded.

It is alleged that sum was withdrawn from corporation funds between 1920 and 1925 and used for the personal benefit of Langan and a son, Edward A. Langan, Jr., who jointly owned the corporation. An 18-page itemized list of withdrawals is submitted, purporting to show company funds were used to purchase stock household furnishings, groceries, a Packard automobile, a residence on Westmoreland drive in University City, clothing, and to pay life insurance, income tax, club dues, golf balls and various other things. Numerous cash withdrawals ranging from $200 to $600.00, are listed, as is $25,000 itemized as "dividends reversed."

Langan died intestate, April 7 last, and the company now is owned by his son and his estate, of which his widow, Mrs. Nellie Estelle Langan, 7246 Westmoreland drive, University City, is administratrix. An inventory of Langan's estate valued it at $33,922.54, not including small realty holdings, the total being much less than the claim filed against it. Langan said today the claim was merely a formality in the settlement of the estate.

them "certainly ought to be made to pay their way."

He asked Congress, in the interest of simplicity in the administration of the revenue law, to repeal some of the miscellaneous taxes, such as that on art works.

Renewed appeal was made by the Secretary for elimination of the publicity feature of the present revenue law, which he declared had no excuse except the gratification of idle curiosity and the filling of newspaper space.

He again declared for a constitutional amendment to prevent the issuance of tax-exempt securities, the present outstanding volume of which he estimated at $14,000,000,000. A practical way to deal with this situation, he added, would be to "take away the artificial advantage of these securities through the reduction of the surtax to a reasonable figure."

He advocated the same cure for the difficulty arising from the community property laws in some states—laws which enable Federal taxes to be escaped by permitting husband and wife each to return separately one-half of their joint income.

Earned Income.

On the subject of earned income the Secretary said:

"In the 1924 act it was declared that all income under $5000 was earned and no income in excess of $10,000 could be considered earned. This is a denial of what we all know are the facts. Many men do not earn the first $5000 of their income and many others earn much more than $10,000. It is, of course, utterly unfair to tax a man whose capital is his brains at the same rate as a man who capital is his money. The first is destroyed by sickness or death; the latter continues to exist. We appreciate, however, the difficulty of a definition accurately to describe what income is earned and what is not earned. Again, if the surtaxes are placed at a normal figure this inequality in taxation is not so pronounced and may be ignored."

NO QUARREL BEFORE YOUTH KILLED FATHER, MOTHER SAYS

"Something Wrong With Warren,"
Declarer Mrs. Vandervoort, on Stand in Murder Case.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
ALLISON, Ia., Oct. 20.—"Something was wrong with Warren when he shot his father," said Mrs. Della Vandervoort, mother of 17-year-old Warren Vandervoort, on trial here for the murder of his father, the Rev. R. J. Vandervoort, when the State placed her on the stand shortly before noon today.

Mrs. Vandervoort told in detail of the family life, which she said was always happy. She said that the boy seemed to be content with his home life. She told of the talk they had of various matters at the dinner table on the night of the tragedy. The son joined in this talk and did not appear to have been excited at anything that was said. Mrs. Vandervoort denied there was any wrangling or bickering that night or at any other time, as Warren, 17 years old, had said there was in his confession. He has pleaded guilty and the mother, who was shot by the son, is trying to lighten his sentence.

K. C. S. DIRECTORS APPROVE DEAL FOR COTTON BELT

Attorneys Now Drafting Plans for Merger Into New Southwestern System.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Directors of the Kansas City Southern Railway today formally approved the action of the Executive Committee in purchasing control of the St. Louis Southwestern Railway (Cotton Belt) from Rock Island interests—the first definite step in the formation of a new Southwestern railroad, sponsored by L. F. Legee.

Attorneys for the Kansas City Southern, it was learned, are now drafting plans for the merger, which will involve an exchange of this road's securities, together with those of the St. Louis Southwestern and the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad, for those of the new company. Eventually, it is planned to bring several other Southwestern carriers into the system.

AMERICAN STEAMER SEIZED BY U. S. COAST GUARD CUTTER

The Carone Taken 40 Miles Off
Atlantic City—Contraband
Reported Found on Board.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The American steamer Carone was escorted into the harbor today by a Coast Guard cutter. It was reported she had been seized about 40 miles off Atlantic City when contraband was found on board.

The steamer was boarded first by a small patrol under command of a boatswain, who forced her to proceed on her course until she was joined by the cutter Manhattan and another patrol boat. The three guard ships then conveyed the Carone to New York.

SCHOOL TAX PLAN APPROVED Gov. Baker to Publish Text of Proposed Amendment

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 20.—The text of Gov. Baker's proposed constitutional amendment, establishing separate taxation sources for support of the public schools and State educational institutions, was approved at a meeting here today of a group invited in by Gov. Baker. Baker said the final draft would be completed in a few days and made public, with a request for criticisms or suggestions on its provisions before steps are taken to circulate initiative petitions. It is planned to submit the amendment in the election of November, 1924.

It has been told, the proposed amendment would transfer the property tax on the State and the State tax on the school support to the State and create two new taxes, one per cent of the value of the property in Missouri and one per cent of the retail sale price of automobiles and cigarettes.

Twinges—NOW.

James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called ALLEN'S, to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of trying he decided to let suffering everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore invited W. F. Wilson Drug Co. and druggists everywhere to dispense ALLEN'S with the understanding that if the first pint bottle does not show the way to complete recovery he will gladly return your money without comment.

"When you're sitting up with a sick friend—
—and the air is blue"

Whenever you're working under high pressure—or playing poker far into the night—you're likely to smoke more than usual.

That's the time this new habit of eating Life Savers between smokes comes in as a "life saver", indeed.

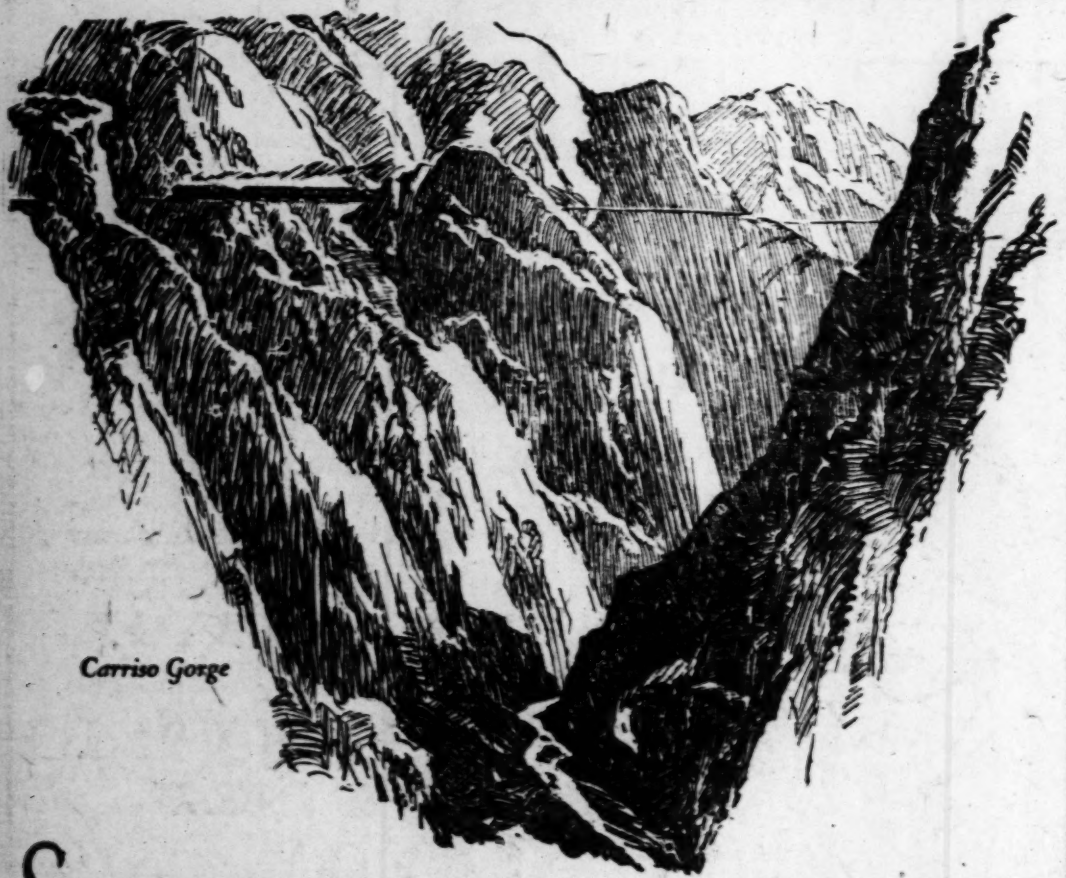

Try them once between smokes and you'll never be without them again. They're almost as good as the smoke itself.

More and more smokers are doing the same thing. We wonder if you know this about Life Savers, those little candy mints with the hole; how they freshen your mouth between smokes, soothe your nerves and make the next smoke taste so much better. It's a fact: Life Savers easily double your smoke enjoyment. Their wonderful aromatic flavors freshen your mouth like a good drink of water when you're really thirsty—and steady your nerves for work or play. Once you try them this way between smokes, you'll always have a package handy.

Six flavors are displayed at all good stores so you may help yourself: Pep-o-mint, Wint-o-green, Cinnamon, Lic-o-ri, Clove and Vi-o-let. Five cents a package.—Life Savers, Inc., Port Chester, N. Y.

MERCHANDISE CREDIT FRAUD DISCLOSED

Man Held in Indiana for Obtaining Goods Here and Shipping Them Away.

The arrest at Hammond, Ind., by postoffice inspectors yesterday of a man describing himself as Leon Thomas disclosed that the Liberty Mercantile Co., opened by Thomas at 804 Pine street last May, was a receiving depot through which thousands of dollars' worth of merchandise obtained from local wholesale houses on credit was shipped to Hammond by way of Chicago.

Thomas' arrest followed the seizure of a freight car load of merchandise, valued at $20,000, and varying from wearing apparel to a grand piano and sewing machines, at Hammond, which Thomas attempted to claim under another name. The car had been shipped from St. Louis by Thomas, according to Postoffice inspectors, and the goods had been obtained on credit from St. Louis wholesalers, including the Levi-Zukowski Mercantile Co., Endicott-Johnson Shoe Co. and the Wurlitzer Piano Co.

Postoffice inspectors and District Attorney Curry said Thomas obtained credit for the Liberty Mercantile Co. on false financial statements, which are now being investigated. The statements were mailed to 40 local wholesale concerns by Thomas, with the announcement that he was prepared to handle miscellaneous merchandise on a "jobbing" basis. An effort is being made to obtain the names of all the concerns granting credit to Thomas.

The arrest followed an investigation started by the chief special agent for the Indiana & Harbor Belt Line Railroad, who discovered that Thomas' frequent shipments, marked household goods, were actually labeled. Postoffice inspectors were notified and, following investigation here, Thomas was arrested on a warrant charging him with using the mails to defraud, issued by District Attorney Curry. The warrant is based on the financial statements sent out by Thomas when he started in business. The warrant has been forwarded to Hammond with the request that Thomas be returned here.

POLICEMAN GIVEN FOOTBALL RUSH AFTER BUYING WHISKY

Customers of Saloon About to Be Raided Aid Owner in Upsetting the Evidence.

These are the days of football scrimmage, and because it was practiced in a saloon at 2048 Oberlin avenue instead of an open athletic field Probationary Patrolman Calvin and Detectives Carr and Camp of the Angelica Street Police Station assert they cannot prove a purchase of whisky from Hans Wiedmann, the proprietor.

Calvin went into the saloon and asserts that Wiedmann unhesitatingly sold him a glass of whisky. Carr and Camp were waiting outside. When Calvin announced that he was a police officer and started to call Carr and Camp, five customers and Wiedmann, he says, rushed at him and threw him to the ground, spilling the whisky over his clothing.

Since odors of alcohol are not competent evidence, the detectives are not hopeful of "making" what looked like a good case. But they have Wiedmann and two of the customers under arrest in the hope that the broad range of Missouri statutes may offer some footing upon which they may be prosecuted.

BOY, 5, SEVERELY HURT IN FALL FROM WINDOW

Alois Lonergan Suffers Fractured Arm and Bruises in Drop of 20 Feet.

Alois Lonergan, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Lonergan, 2154A Lafayette avenue, suffered a fractured right arm and severe bruises when he fell out of an open window of his home at 11:45 a. m. yesterday to the ground, 20 feet below. He is in a serious condition at city hospital.

The child awakened and looked for his mother, he explained later, and not finding her, wandered about the house. After falling out the window he walked back upstairs and attracted a roomer's attention, who awakened the child's parents.

ness without unanimous consent. It is practically impossible to do any planning in the board; we have to refer things to committee. It is like to know what some of the members think about our problem; I'd like to know what Mr. Eason ("Boss" Eason of the county) thing about them, and others."

A motion by Mrs. Kroeger for meetings monthly for informal discussion was withdrawn when Lauby suggested the possibility of caucuses at the chairman's call instead.

Chairman Casfield announced he had been informed the Board of Estimate and Apportionment was going to approve appropriation for the city's half of the board's expenses. Eason stated the County Court had assured him that the county would meet its half. Although the board meetings are public, the only persons present were 16 freeholders, their clerk, their stenographer, four newspaper reporters and two spectators.

NEW GERMAN CONSUL

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer
DR. GEORG AHRENS.

Dr. Georg Ahrens, the new German Consul for St. Louis, arrived here yesterday to re-establish the consulate, which had been closed for two years under an economy program of his Government. He is staying at Hotel Jefferson temporarily and will go to Chicago tomorrow for files of his office. He plans to open the office about Nov. 1 and then will bring his wife and small child here from Germany. Recently he was Consul at Budapest and from 1914 to 1917 he was in the Imperial German embassy at Washington.

HOW BRITISH MADE WAR PROPAGANDA

Gen. Charteris, Head of Intelligence Service in China, Tells of Switched "Captions."

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The false story that Germany was boiling down the bodies of her dead soldiers of the World War to utilize the fats for fertilizer was started as a bit of British propaganda in China, Brigadier-General J. V. Charteris, war time chief of the British intelligence unit, author of the story says.

The origin of the tale was made known for the first time when Gen. Charteris told the story to illustrate the amazing powers of propaganda in a talk given at the National Arts Club last night. When England was worried over the seeming pro-Germany proclivities of China, the General said, he connected the idea of switching the captions on two pictures taken from dead German soldiers, one captioned "cadaver," showing a train load of horses being taken to the rear to fertilizer factories, the other depicting a train taking dead German soldiers to the rear for burial.

Labelling the picture of the dead soldiers with the caption of "cadaver," Gen. Charteris said he sent it to Chinese newspapers. He then forgot about them. However, the story swept over the continent arousing England and eventually became subject for debate in the House of Commons.

At one time, he said, it had been planned to "plant" a forged caption on the body of a German dead soldier, purporting to reveal details of the "boiling down" practices and have it discovered by a war correspondent. The plan was given up but the diary is now on exhibition in the War Museum at London.

$1000 FINE UNDER DRY LAW
Floyd E. Bush Pleads Guilty in U. S. Court of Sale and Possession of Liquor in Saloon.

Floyd E. Bush, politician and former Constable, was fined $1000 by Federal Judge Davis yesterday when he pleaded guilty to charges of sale and possession of whisky in his saloon at 2221 Olive street. He paid the fine.

Last March Bush paid a fine of $146 for a similar offense when he pleaded guilty before Judge Davis.

Search for Missing Illinois Man.
The Post-Dispatch has been asked to help locate C. P. Brown, 46 years old, of Gilman, Ill., who disappeared from his sick bed while delirious. He has black hair, brown eyes and dark complexion, and was wearing a grayish brown overcoat, blue gray hat and brown slippers, and driving a Chevrolet coupe, Illinois license 675228, when he left his home. Any information leading to his apprehension should be sent to his wife, Mrs. C. P. Brown, 416 Plum street, Mount Carmel, Ill.

I. C. C. UPHOLD IN RULING

Kansas City Southern Line Denied Review of Property Valuation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—A review was denied yesterday by the Supreme Court in the Kansas City

Southern Railway's challenge of the valuation placed upon its properties by the Interstate Commerce Commission, in a case designed to present a test of the commission's proceedings in such work.

At the same time, the Kansas

City Southern, in a brief, declared another case would be brought before the court shortly by the Los Angeles & Salt Lake Railroad Co., which would present the situation to the court in such a way that consideration might be given it.

P. J. Farrell, solicitor for the Interstate Commerce Commission, said the Kansas City Southern may now bring a suit in equity in the United States District Court and test out the commission's valuation by a different method.

Destroys the Germs That Infect the Gums

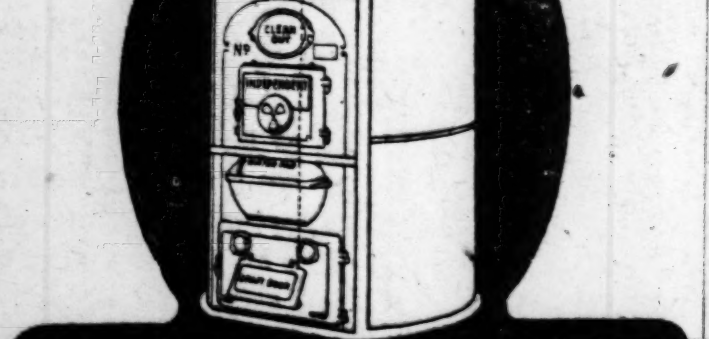

Bleeding Stops in 12 Hours—Soreness Disappears in 24 Hours—Pus Clears Up in 2 to 3 Days—Infection Is Destroyed in Three to Four Weeks—Without Pain.

A pleasant tasting oil strongly fortified with germ destroying Creso-sene positively penetrates to the deepest infected areas and kills out tissue consuming Pyorrhea germs. Bleeding of gums stops completely in twelve hours; soreness and bad breath disappear in twenty-four hours; nasty pus clears up in two to three days; teeth begin to tighten in one week; poison secretions stop flowing the second week and if your Pyorrhea has not been completely eliminated in three to four weeks, get your money back.

Creso-sene derives its great curative powers from its ability to penetrate through healthy tissue without harm and carry germ destroying medication to the infected areas. Being an oil, it is not affected by the saliva. A thin coating of Creso-sene remains on the surface of the gums long enough to allow the medication to do its work thoroughly and effectively.

Creso-sene is the newest and most improved form of home treatment for Pyorrhea and infected gums. It completely banishes this terrible disease without pain or discomfort. Heavy dental bills and severe pain are avoided. It is sold on an absolute and positive guarantee of entire satisfaction, or money refunded by the druggist from whom purchased.

Sold by Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., Walgreen Drug Stores, Enderle Drug Co. and all other local druggists, at $1.50 for a full size bottle, or will be sent direct from the laboratory on receipt of price. Address: CRESO-SENE COMPANY, Des Moines, Iowa.

HARMLESS LAXATIVE All Children Love Its Pleasant Taste

Mother!

Hurry! Give Constipated Child "California Fig Syrup"

Even a fretful, feverish, bilious or constipated child loves the pleasant taste of "California Fig Syrup." This gentle, harmless laxative never fails to sweeten the stomach and open the bowels. A teaspoonful to day may prevent a sick child tomorrow. It doesn't cramp or overact.

Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

It's Neuritis! Not Rheumatism

That sharp, stabbing pain in the upper arm, about the shoulder blade, in the nape of the neck, along the forearm or down the thigh and leg is often neuritis—not rheumatism.

If you have severe frontal headache with a feeling that something is twitching or pulling at the eyeballs—a dull, aching pain in the back, accompanied by an occasional shooting pain in the side—numbness or tingling in the fingers, or "stitches" of pain here and there, the chances are that your trouble is neuritis.

No matter where your pain is located you can get prompt relief without taking bromides, narcotics or other drugs. Apply Enderle's ointment to the part that hurts and you will soon be free of the trouble. Enderle's ointment is guaranteed harmless. It is absorbed through the pores of the skin, helping to soothe and heal the inflamed nerves. You can get a good supply for $1 at J. & E. FREIGHT DEPOT BURNS WITH $75,000 LOSS

Overheated Stove a Use of Fire in Southern Railway Annex in East St. Louis.

The office section of the Southern Railway's freight depot at 209 East Broadway, East St. Louis, was destroyed last night by fire starting in an overheated stove. Seven fire companies fought the blaze and a favorable wind saved the long frame annex in which valuable freight was stored.

The property loss was estimated today by J. Coffey, freight agent, at $75,000.

The fire started at 11:30 p. m. and lasted two hours, attracting hundreds of spectators from theaters who packed the Cahokia creek viaduct.

A temporary freight office has been opened at 203 East Broadway. A similar fire six months ago destroyed the offices of the Big Four freight depot.

35 CARS OF NORTHERN SEED POTATOES IN ONE SHIPMENT Train Load of Irish Cobbler Variety Sufficient to Plant 1750 Acres in Missouri.

What is believed to be the largest single shipment of northern-grown, certified seed potatoes ever made in the United States, arrived this morning at Anglin, St. Louis County, over the Wabash railroad. Thirty-five cars, comprising an entire train load, of Irish cobbler potatoes from Hollandale, Minn., for use in Missouri, were acquired through the efforts of the Extension Service of the College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri.

The shipment contained approximately 24,000 bushels, sufficient to plant 1750 acres. Earl M. Page, assistant professor of horticulture, estimated that the increased value per car would be $290 bushels, the value of which, at $1 per bushel, would be $104,650 increased value for the train load.

Page addressed a meeting of potato growers on the arrival of the train at the Florissant Valley Co-operative Elevator, discussing increasing potato yields. Other speakers were A. J. Meyer, Director of Agriculture Extension Service, Missouri College of Agriculture; A. G. Tolson, St. Paul, in charge of Minnesota seed potato certification; J. T. Quinn, truck crop investigations, Missouri College of Agriculture; P. N. Davis, president Hollandale, Minn., Co-operative Marketing Association; T. J. Tabbert, head of the Department of Horticulture, Missouri College of Agriculture; J. R. Hansen, County Extension Agent, St. Louis County; W. A. Hopkins, assistant general freight agent, Wabash railroad; and Charles Metcalf, Hollman Produce Co., Hollandale, Minn.

AUTO HUB CAP CLEW IN MURDER OF GIRL AND FIANCE

By the Associated Press. KENOSHA, Wis., Oct. 26.—A battered and torn hub cap, found beside a stone bridge near Kenosha, may hold the solution of the mystery surrounding the murder of 19-year-old Madalynne Latimer and her fiance, James Sears, Sheriff Williams believes.

All other clues failing, Williams has turned to the hub cap as his most valuable thread in the investigation, which has been under way four days. The cap, bearing a maker's trade mark, was found Saturday by Frank Bostetter, deputy, in his search for the identity of the person who shot the Milwaukee girl and her Kenosha fiance in their parked car and removed their bodies to a cabbage patch and covered them with cabbage leaves last Thursday.

Automobile tire marks led to the deputy's discovery. They led from the road to the cabbage patch across a part of the Kenosha Country Club golf course and then to the approach to Pike Creek and the bridge where the hub cap was found.

Investigators believe the hub cap came in contact with the bridge and was removed from the car by the driver when he found it was damaged. Frank K. Eberhart, 26 years old, who professed to be an amateur detective, was held yesterday after the police learned he had clipped liberally newspaper accounts of the killings. He said he thought the clippings would aid him in solving the mystery.

AUTO TIRE PRICES RISE 50 PCT. IN FIVE MONTHS

Increase of 15 to 20 Per Cent Made by All Large Manufacturers Within Last Few Days.

Automobile tires and tubes were selling more than 50 per cent higher today than they were five months ago, following another increase of 15 to 20 per cent in prices by all large manufacturers within the last few days.

The price of pneumatic and carload tires was increased 15 per cent and inner tube and solid tire prices were increased 20 per cent in the last raise. Local tire companies of St. Louis attribute the increase to the higher cost of rubber, due to the British control of the rubber market. Before prices were increased, crude rubber was selling for 27 cents a pound; now it sells for slightly more than $1 a pound.

The price of a 32x4 tire of standard make now is about $20, as compared with $25 last June before the price increase started. Tubes for the same size tire sell for more than $5 now.

Roasting Coffee in the 18th Century

COFFEE roasting at home, as it was done years ago with crude, individual roasters, was a difficult task. Oftentimes the coffee was burned. When this happened the housewife possessed of a quarrelsome husband, buried the burned beans to escape censure for her carelessness.

72 years ago Jas. H. Forbes realized that the proper preparation of coffee was an art and should be done by experts, and in 1853 he established the first coffee roasting house west of the Mississippi. By eliminating the inaccuracies of home roasting, Forbes Coffee became known and has been noted ever since for its perfect flavor and delicious aroma. Today Forbes Quality Brand Coffee offers you the results of 72 years progress in the roasters' art. Ask your grocer for it.

30 NEW YORK CAFES CALLED INTO COURT

Thirty Night Life Resorts Served With Complaints in Padlock Drive.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Broadway cabarets and supper clubs were the objective today of the most sweeping prohibition drive yet waged along the famous thoroughfare. Thirty of the best-known night resorts were served with summonses and complaint by members of United States District Attorney Buckner's staff.

Throughout last night and early today the Federal prosecutor's men visited the all-night places and left papers requiring the owners to appear in Federal Court to answer charges of selling liquor. Some of the places were off the Great White Way, one being the Lido Venice, exclusive supper club in East Fifty-third street near Fifth avenue.

The action against the 30 places was Buckner's first step in his announced plan to padlock approximately 100 of the leading Manhattan resorts, mostly along Broadway, suspected of selling liquor.

Buckner's "Encore List." Included in today's list of cabarets and supper clubs were the Del-Fey Club, near Times Square; the Piping Rock and the Game Cock restaurants, east of Fifth avenue; the Piccadilly-Hampton Rendezvous, the Piccadilly Supper Club, the Half Moon and the Hogsy Tote, in the Broadway district; and the Golden Eagle, in Greenwich Village.

Some of the places were on what Buckner termed his "encore list," their managements having been enjoined from ever again violating the prohibition law. In such places all waiters were summoned. Among these were the Lido Venice, the Del-Fey Club and the Piping Rock. The waiters were ordered to appear before the Federal grand jury today.

Scenes of excitement prevailed in some of the resorts upon the entry of Government agents and policemen. In some cases the process-serving squad reported the crash of many liquor bottles being hastily broken to destroy evidence could be heard before entrance was gained.

Liquor Piped Into Place. Buckner today made known the discovery that the Del-Fey Club supplied its customers with liquor through a pipe connecting with another building. Scotch, gin, or champagne could be obtained by turning a certain faucet, the prosecutor said, adding that this club was under the same management that had operated the El-Fey Club, which was padlocked several months ago.

SAYS FATAL CRASH OF ARMY PLANE WAS UNAVOIDABLE

Officer, After Examining Wreck in Which Three Were Killed, Gives Motor Trouble as Cause.

CAPE MAY COURTHOUSE, N. J., Oct. 20.—The airplane crash near here yesterday in which three United States army aviators were killed, was unavoidable, in the opinion of Lieut. M. O. Elliott, operations officer at Mitchell Field, who today investigated the accident. Those killed were Capt. Robert A. Kinloch, Charleston, S. C.; Lieut. Abbott C. Martin, Reading, Mass.; the pilot; and Staff Sergeant Joseph Coulston, Norristown, Pa.

They were flying from Mitchell Field, N. Y., to Langley Field, Va., in a Martin bombing plane and carried a number of suitcases, children's toys, a bicycle, chairs and clothing for fellow officers who had been transferred to Langley Field for the winter.

"One of the motors," said Lieut. Elliott, "apparently developed trouble shortly after the plane left Ocean City. Over Cape May Courthouse it is believed to have gone dead and, hampered by a stiff wind, the plane went out of control and was tossed like a leaf into the tree tops. I found the two 800-horsepower Liberty motors practically buried in soft ground. The men never had a chance to escape. There is no field within 20 miles where a plane of this size could land. Capt. Kinloch was on his way to his home in South Carolina, having been granted a 30-day leave of absence."

George Buckle, 7 years old, 2737 Sheridan avenue, fractures of left leg and right arm and lacerations of the body.
Mrs. Louise Huth, 66, 2737 Sheridan avenue, abrasions of right leg.
Mrs. Louise Spilker, 72, 2014 Alice avenue, internal injuries, fractured left leg and lacerated scalp.

Thomas Moriarty, 40, 410 West Main street, Kirkwood, fractures of skull and right hand and lacerations of face.

Mrs. Alma Hoyer, 49, 2828 Burgess avenue, Maplewood, internal injuries, lacerated scalp and body bruises.

James W. Sarver, 50, Herrick, Ill., fractured ribs.

George Buckle, 7 years old, suffered fractures of the left leg and right arm and lacerations of the body and his grandmother, Mrs. Louise Huth, 66, of 2737 Sheridan avenue, with whom he resided, suffered abrasions of the right leg, at 10:20 o'clock last night when struck by the motor cycle of Patrolman William Ahrens of the traffic division. In his report of the accident, Ahrens said the woman and child stopped from behind a street car from which they had alighted in front of 3382 South Jefferson avenue, and walked into the path of his motor cycle, which was northbound.

Roman 72 Years Old Hurt.
Running to catch a street car, at 6:15 p. m., Mrs. Louise Spilker, 72, of 2014 Alice avenue, stepped into the path of a machine driven by Dr. William J. Davis of 4919 North Broadway, at Florissant and Pope avenues. She suffered internal injuries, a fractured left leg and lacerated scalp.

An automobile driven by Thomas Moriarty, 40, of 410 West Main street, Kirkwood, collided with a parked machine in front of 2453 Olive street late yesterday. At City Hospital Moriarty was pronounced suffering from fractures of the skull and right hand and lacerations of the face.

Police are seeking the driver of an automobile who failed to stop after his machine had collided with another car in front of 2708 Pine boulevard early last night, resulting in injuries to Mrs. Alma Hoyer, 49, of 2828 Burgess avenue, Maplewood, an occupant of the other automobile. She suffered internal injuries, body bruises and a lacerated scalp.

Illinois Man Injured Here.
James W. Sarver, 50, of Herrick, Ill., reported to Central District police yesterday that he was struck on Eleventh street, near Olive street, last Friday by an automobile, the driver of which fled after the accident. He said he didn't believe he was injured at the time, but yesterday felt internal pains. Taken to city hospital he was found to be suffering from several fractured ribs.

Man Struck by Auto Saturday Identified by His Sister.

A man, who was struck by an automobile at Broadway and Union street Saturday night, and is still unconscious at City Hospital, was identified last night as Fred Fleckenstein, 30 years old, a laborer. Fleckenstein was identified by his sister, Mrs. Anna Schmidt, 2933 South Eighteenth street, with whom he makes his home. Fleckenstein is suffering from a fractured skull and fractured right leg. His condition is serious.

JUDGE PERSUADES UNWILLING WIFE TO PROSECUTE HUSBAND

She Assents, So Oliver Gamache Gets Year in Workhouse on Two Different Counts.

Oliver Gamache, 39 years old, of 1208 St. Ange avenue, an automobile salesman for the Gamache Motor Car Co., was sentenced to one year in the workhouse on each of two charges of nonsupport of his wife and three children, by Judge Calvin Miller in Court of Criminal Correction.

Mrs. Bertha Gamache, when the case was called, said she would not testify against her husband, but she was induced to do so by the Judge, who protested that too many cases of a similar character, which were not prosecuted, were taking the time of the court. Testimony showed Gamache was delinquent in the care of his family during the past 18 months, and officers of charitable organizations said they had assisted the wife and children. "A year for not supporting your wife, and another for not caring for your children," Judge Miller said.

ROBTS SUSPECTED ROBBERS

Grocer Fires on Two Men Who Follow Him From Store.

Two men followed Lester Cook of 1809 North Ninth street when he left his grocery at 2401 North Twelfth street last night to walk home, with $200 cash in his pockets. At Eleventh and Tyler streets, Cook stopped, unwrapped a package under his arm and turned around.

"What do you want?" he demanded, with a revolver in his hand. The men turned and ran, while Cook fired several shots. He told policemen that he thought he wounded one man.

Every Woman who weighs over 130 should know ADAPTO SHOES

It isn't always because a woman happens to tip the scales at 170, or more, that she may give the appearance of being overweight. On the contrary, a generously proportioned woman, if she carries herself well and dresses thoughtfully, may often possess all the grace and charm of her more slender sister.

Shoes play a vital part in achieving this purpose. As a woman increases in weight the ball of the foot expands to better balance and carry the added body-weight. But, almost invariably the heel does not increase in size proportionately! Therefore, the large woman requires a shoe that is, actually, of two different sizes. The heel fitting must measure smaller than the rest of the shoe.

ADAPTO Shoes have been designed exclusively for stout women. They are built over a "combination last"—the heel fitting being from two to three sizes smaller than the other shoe measurements. In addition, ADAPTO Shoes provide high arch support and, being made in all sizes up to 11, widths AAA to EEE, come close to guaranteeing perfect fit.

ADAPTOS may be had in all the latest models, including strap pumps and slippers.

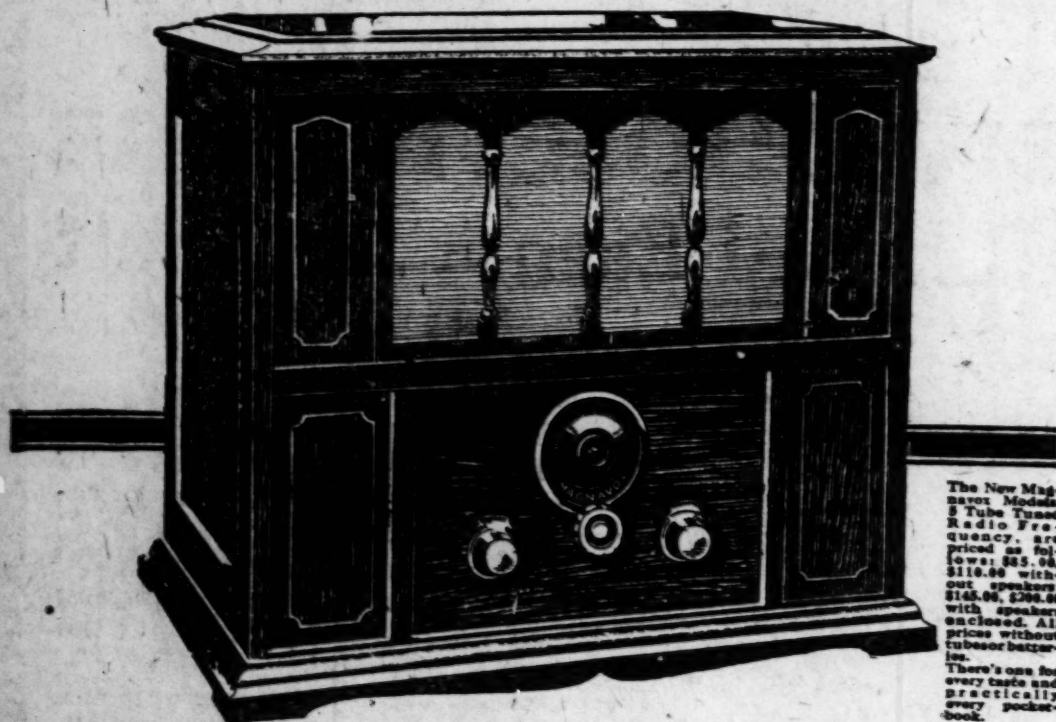

Under the direction of Dr. Byron Schindler, Podiatrist, a Foot Service Department is maintained for the treatment (at nominal charges) of all manner of foot ailments. Consultations, and, upon request, the professional supervision of shoe-fittings are free of charge.

These models are but a few of many. Stop in and see the others.

J. M. DEERING LEFT $1,500,000 TO CHARITY

Bulk of Estate to Be Divided by His Brother and Brother-in-Law.

By the Associated Press.
MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 20.—Donation of $1,000,000 to charitable institutions is provided for in the will of James M. Deering, who died Sept. 21, which has been filed in the Dade County Court. Provision is also made for the placing of $500,000 in trust, the income to be used for the maintenance of the Miami City Hospital.

Charles Deering, a brother, named as one executor, is given $175,000 outright. Villa Vasquez, the Deering estate to the south of Miami, which is included in the residuary property, is to be divided between Charles Deering and Richard F. Howe, a brother-in-law and the other executor. Mr. Deering is to receive three-fifths of the estate and Howe the remainder.

Other Bequests.
Requests to other relatives, friends and employees total approximately $855,000 with the sums ranging in size from $100,000 to $500,000. Charles W. C. Deering, a nephew, is given $500,000.

The Visiting Nurse Association and the Children's Memorial Hospital, both of Chicago, are to receive $500,000 each. It is stipulated in the clause placing $500,000 in trust for the Miami City Hospital that the money must be used to establish a charity ward. Provision is also made that the ward shall be named the "William Deering Ward." In case the hospital shall fail to establish such a ward, or, if in the opinion of the trustees, the ward is not being conducted properly, the income from the trust fund will be devoted to some other charitable institution of Miami, the decision to rest solely with the executors.

Debts Cancelled.

All debts and obligations owed to Deering are cancelled by the terms of the will, and all interest that has accrued on past debts is likewise nullified and the executors are instructed not to seek payment.

James M. Deering died at sea Sept. 21, while returning from Europe on the steamer Paris. He was widely known in northern art circles and contributed heavily during his life to various philanthropic projects. Before retiring from business he was vice president of the International Harvester Co.

TRADE COMMISSIONER DECRIES PUBLIC CLAMOR OVER TRUSTS

Humphrey Says Facts of $400,000,000 Bakery Merger Show It Is Legal.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Using as a subject the proposed new bakery merger, William E. Humphrey, member of the Federal Trade Commission, said in an address before the American Oil Men's Association here today that the majority of the commission are not going to be stampeded into making a lot of misleading, sensational, self-serving statements by the frantic shrieks of publicity seekers.

"A few days ago," he said, "the radical press carried a startling story that a $400,000,000 bakers' trust had been formed to prey on the staff of life of the common people. This statement was further embellished by a sensational assertion that the commission could have prevented the consummation of this gigantic wrong if it had made public the facts concerning the case it already had commenced against some of the parties of this alleged transaction."

Humphrey said the commission had issued a complaint against some of those interested, but that the facts had not been made public because all the information gathered tended to show that what had been done was legitimate.

Kling Oklahoma Mat 'Cyclone' Breaks Opponent's Rib

Eirc Pohl Out of Game Month, as Result of Bob Robertson's Foul.

"Cyclone" Bob Robertson, who is to be an Oklahoma champion wrestler, is playing havoc with St. Louis wrestling circles. Two of his victims bear marks inflicted upon them in a way not altogether tolerated in the wrestling circles.

Eric Pohl of 232 South Newstead avenue, an advertising solicitor for an afternoon newspaper and a wrestler of considerable merit, is wearing his left arm in a sling and his body heavily bruised as the result of a wrestling bout with Robertson in Maplewood last week. Pohl charges that Robertson, on that occasion, twice fouled him in a manner that would cause his immediate disbarment, if his commission existed there; and that after he was on the floor as the result of the second foul, Robertson kicked him and broke his ribs.

Punches Pohl's Nose.

Mike Pohl, a Greek wrestler, today is wearing a cut and badly swollen nose which he claims Robertson punched last night on the stage of the Liberty Music Hall, where Pohl was wrestling Gustav Hansen, and Cyclone Robertson was acting as referee.

Pohl exhibited his altered front place to a representative of the Post-Dispatch today. His associate, Pete Dallas, another wrestler, told the following story:

"Pohl was wrestling Hansen for 30 or 40 minutes. Then they saw Mike wasn't going to do what he wanted him to do, but was trying to give Hansen all he had. The referee started to abuse and worry Pohl, who refused to continue. Robertson then hit him a crack in the face. They rushed him in and stopped the fight. Pohl then agreed for the benefit of the crowd to wrestle a 30-minute exhibition with George Tragos referee."

Manager Oscar Dane of Liberty Music Hall confirmed the story of a wrangle, but said that his employees reported that Pohl had been rolling off the mat and Robertson kept pushing him back. Then the fight started.

Robertson, Dane said, left the theater under police escort to avoid trouble with friends of Pohl, who said he was waiting for him outside the theater.

Pohl calls it "Frame-Up."

The Pohl case was different, Pohl declares, from the case of a frame-up, of which Robertson was the instrument. Pohl, who manages a wrestling circuit himself, said that he had given Robertson employment on his circuit twice. Then he decided to take on Robertson himself, at the Liberty Music Hall.

"I won the first fall from him," Pohl relates, "but in the second fall he fouled me in the groin. I had to give up up that fall owing to the pain, but came back for the third fall. Then he fouled me again and Referee Lloyd Carter saw the foul and started to stop the affair. Before he could reach Robertson he had kicked me in the side, breaking three ribs. I have plenty of witnesses."

Pohl, according to Dr. E. J. Breckenridge of Maplewood, who saw the bout and attended the injured man, said that all the ligaments of Pohl's left shoulder had been badly wrenched; that three of his ribs were fractured and that he had injuries elsewhere. He said Pohl would not be able to attend to his work for about a month.

"Because my men wrestle on the level," said Pohl, "and because I am cutting into their field, I am convinced that enemies in the same business 'framed' up on me to get me out of business, and that they chose Robertson to do the job."

St. Louis Varsity Now In Better Shape For Cadets; Pikers Scrimmage Today

Both Local University Elevens Undergo Intensive Workouts This Afternoon in Preparation for Hard Battles Next Saturday.

By John H. Alexander.

St. Louis and Washington universities will hold their first scrimmages this afternoon in preparation for Saturday when the Billikens meet Army and the Pikers Ames, both away from home. The squads will leave town Thursday, St. Louis U. at noon and Washington in the evening.

Assistant Coach Bob Hannegan returned from New York yesterday morning, where he scouted the Army's surprising defeat of Notre Dame, and reports the cadets as several touchdowns better than when he last saw them in St. Louis, and almost wrecked the week. Pohl charges that Robertson, on that occasion, twice fouled him in a manner that would cause his immediate disbarment, if his commission existed there; and that after he was on the floor as the result of the second foul, Robertson kicked him and broke his ribs.

Coach Higgins Dismissed.

A similar program will be enacted at the University of Washington, where the Pikers will try out the Ames squad, as used against Kansas last Saturday, against the varsity. Coach Higgins is not satisfied with the work of his men in holding Oklahoma Aggies to a 0-6 score, and yesterday he dismissed him.

Stanton and Albin Return.

The Billiken strength was considerably enhanced yesterday by the return to the team of Tom Stanton and Clarence Albin, end and tackle, who will bolster up the line appreciably. The line.

Boxer Presented With Straightjacket For Winning a Bout

HAVANA, Oct. 20.—BILLY MURPHY, an American boxer, who is being detained on the Government ship Maximo Gomez, in Havana harbor, pending deportation, displayed his professional war to several guards last Saturday. The report is that Murphy refused to perform a minor duty assigned him and sailed into the guards with hooks, jabs and swings. The boxer won the decision and received as a prize a set of chains and a straightjacket.

Murphy was ordered deported for alleged knowledge of the robbery of two Spanish-American veterans who came to Havana recently from the St. Petersburg convention.

STUPENDOUS TASK FACES BUILDERS OF OLYMPIC STADIUM

AMSTERDAM, Holland, Oct. 20.—Private munificence having virtually assured holding the Olympic games in Amsterdam in 1928, plans have been drawn for the construction of a special stadium on the outskirts of the city.

Owing to the soggy nature of the ground it will be necessary to drive 5000 piles, each 50 feet in length, into the subsoil for a foundation. A million cubic meters of sand will be required to raise the level of the site. There will be 7600 square meters of covered seating space. The new stadium grounds will be about 35 acres in size. One of the features that will appeal particularly to the Dutch public will be a mile and a quarter rowing course. Inside the grounds there will be parking space for 2500 automobiles.

PLAYING SECRETS OF Famous Football Stars IRA RODGERS FULLBACK, WEST VIRGINIA.

RODGERS WOULD CALMLY WARD OFF BLOCKERS AS HE BACKED UP PREPARING TO FORWARD PASS

By Ed Thorp.

Line smashing was only a part of Rodgers' ability. He was expert at throwing forward passes. Most coaches find it necessary to provide protection for their passer.

Rodgers did not need any standing about 12 yards behind his center. Rodgers would receive the ball and, posing like a shot-putter, would ward off opponents with his left hand while calmly waiting for the receiver to reach his position.

Frequently, opponents would be piled up in front of the West Virginia star, but he never hurried his pass and seldom missed connections with the receiver.

A keen student of football and quick to discover weakness on the other side of the line, Rodgers also assumed the duties of field general and called all signals from his fullback position.

(Copyright, 1925.)

There will always be high-class linebreakers, but it is very unlikely the game will ever produce another line-smasher like Rodgers, who brought nation-wide fame to West Virginia a few years ago.

Rodgers was a wonderful physical specimen, 190 pounds and all muscle and bone. Gaining speed very quickly, the West Virginia star hit the line low and with terrific force. His particular objective was the opposing tackles. Merely checking Rodgers was not sufficient. When grabbed by an opponent he would continue twisting and twisting his way for additional distance and most times it would require two and more tacklers to finally bring him down.

Another committee is drafting a plan for uniform rules for suspending boxers and a form of notice will be sent when a boxer is suspended to all members of the association which will be acknowledged and the banned fighter will be "on the carpet" in all the 26 states represented by the membership in the organization until the suspending commission lifts its penalty.

Action was taken to admit Canadian and Mexican commissions until full affiliation with the American organization. New York is not affiliated with the body but efforts will be made to enlist state boxing officials there before another annual convention is held, it was said.

McBRIDE HIGH DEFEATS C. B. C. IN PREP CONTEST

McBride high defeated Christian Brothers College yesterday in a Preparatory League contest, 9 to 0, in an exciting contest and took the conference leadership.

After three quarters, in which both sides failed to score, McBride, in the fourth quarter, worked the ball to the C. B. C. 20-yard line, from where Murphy kicked a perfect field goal. With two minutes left, C. B. C. started a march to the McBride goal and, aided by a long pass and a 20-yard run by Ruane, got to the 40-yard line. Here Gassner, McBride center, intercepted a forward pass and ran 60 yards for a touchdown.

Lineup and summaries:

C. B. C. (6): Gassner, R. E. O'Connor, Gassner, C. G. Gassner, C. G. Gassner, C. G. Gassner.

McBride (11): Gassner, R. E. O'Connor, Gassner, C. G. Gassner, C. G. Gassner, C. G. Gassner.

ILLINOIS HAS Chance to Get Back in Race

Conquest Over Michigan Saturday Would Scramble the Big Ten.

76,000 Tickets For Illinois-Michigan Game Have Been Sold

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 20.—At least two-four special trains will arrive here on Friday and Saturday to bring old grads and football fans to the Michigan and Illinois football game on Saturday.

In addition, many thousands of automobiles will arrive, approximately 50,000 visitors are expected to be here during the annual University of Illinois home coming. All tickets to the game, 76,000, were sold several weeks ago. Ten thousand Michigan students and alumni are expected.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Illinois and Ohio State loom as potential trouble makers in their respective games with Michigan and Iowa in this week's Western conference games.

The Illini, defeated by Iowa last week has a chance to scramble the Big Ten standings by downing the Wolverines so far undefeated, and with goal untouched. To do this Coach Zuppke has Red Grange in top form and is bolstering up a better interference for him.

Michigan, undamaged in its victory over Wisconsin, has a full bag of tricks that Yost has saved for the game. Iowa realizes that its title chances, given a big boost by the Illinois victory, meet an acid test in the Buckeye game.

Ohio survived its intercollegiate clash with Columbia in fine shape and the line is augmented by the return of Klein, center, whose knee was twisted.

No time was wasted by Wisconsin in post mortems on the Michigan game. Instead the effort is toward strengthening weak spots for the Purdue game. The Rollermakers, unbeaten in the Big Ten, are at a disadvantage because of light weight but have the benefit of virtually a two week lay-off since the Rose Poly game Saturday was scarcely a work out.

Notre Dame's bitter experience in the army game is paying dividends in intensive training for Minnesota.

Intercollegiate games occupy attention at Chicago and Northwestern. The Maroons are polishing their defense with which they hope to foil the great variety of attack boasted by Pennsylvania.

Tulane, Northwestern's opponent, appears formidable on paper, while Thistlethwaite's wards are without Baker, backfield mainstay.

Indiana's meeting with Miami is looked upon as an opportunity to correct past errors and season the Hoosiers for their forthcoming tilts.

JOHN CARNEY, FORMER BASEBALL STAR, DIES

LITCHFIELD, N. H., Oct. 20.—John Carney, for many years a player and manager in the major and minor leagues, died at his home here yesterday. Carney had played with Washington, Buffalo and Cleveland prior to 1921, when he went to Cincinnati. Later he played with Milwaukee, Toledo and Grand Rapids and managed the Kansas City and Charleston clubs. He was 53 years old.

One long mile of motor coaches will convey the West Point Cadet Corps to New Haven when the mile meets the Building in the Yale saucer Oct. 31.

Throughout Connecticut the caravan of future lieutenants will be escorted by a motor troop mustered from the Connecticut State Police. Forty motor buses will be necessary to haul the corps.

Country Outstrips City.

FROM an athletic viewpoint, St. Louis high schools are in a fair way to play second fiddle to the St. Louis County schools. We note, in this connection, that annually several county schools take part in the Columbia State athletic and State basketball championship tournaments; and that only Friday last Webster went to Louisville for an inter-city football game, making a notable showing against a team picked as a potential national championship winner.

No more covered "scoreboards" bind the county schools to systematically hide their light under a local bushel as is the case in the city. The county schools are free to bring out-of-town teams to this district for title games, or to participate in intercity events elsewhere. Having higher and more important goals to shoot at, they naturally are gaining strength and power annually and attracting a greater local interest. In a short time the County League will take precedence of the city schools, both in power and prestige—unless the shackles are taken off our high schools' athletic activities."

Open the City Gates.

BY this is meant liberty to enter STATE championships at least once a year; permission to play at least one INTERCITY game each in football, baseball and other sports.

Unless the School Board opens up, athletic life here will continue to be cramped and inferior type it has been for years. St. Louis has been promised a high school stadium. But that across first; then let down the bars and open the gates of the city to broaden the athletic field.

Then we will not run second to the county, as otherwise we bid fair to do in a short time.

Mr. Hoff Comments.

M. R. MAX HOFF, who labors under handicap of a nickname, "Boo Hoo," and the management of several fighters, wields a convincing typewriter in defense of his boxers, Sailor Friedman, who was to have appeared in stilet shoe here, and Eddie Wagner, who did fight here, at the Coliseum reopening.

Friedman on money had been held up by the Penn. Boxing Commission, pending investigation; and that was the subject of comment locally. The referee, Harry Sharpe, had lectured Eddie Wagner, after his bout with Pete Hartley, for his failure to put steam into his punches.

In connection with Friedman, Hoff writes: "The commission here has ordered the club to pay the guarantee over to Friedman (withheld after his Zivic bout in Pittsburgh) and has fully exonerated him of all charges made against him."

Wagner Lacks a Punch.

AS to Wagner, he says: "There is no reason for Wagner to pull his punches—he cannot hit hard enough to hurt an opponent. In more than 100 fights he has knocked out only two foes; one of these bouts was stopped by the referee when a cut over Wagner's opponent's eye blinded him. In his other battles Wagner failed even to knock down an opponent. Why should he pull his punches?" Hoff seems to have it right.

"Money No Object."

THIS much can be said for Hoff: As long as he has been in the game he has not been fined or censured by any commission anywhere, although he handles a large string of boxers. He says: "I demand the best from all my boys and will not be a party to anything that isn't right."

Hoff, it may be said, is a "bug" on boxing. He wants to make money for his boys. He isn't in the game for the dollars he says himself, as he has plenty of them. And friends declare this is true. He adds: "I can't get pleasure out of a pastime if I have stallers and fakers on my list."

Hoff stood a personal loss of $500 two or three years ago in this city. He could have made a $1000 profit on his trip by accepting a cut for his fighter, Ad Stone, then looked upon as a near champion. Hoff insisted on the letter of his contract and took his man out of the show when the promoters failed to live up to their agreement and guarantee to Stone.

—SPECIAL DAILY—

STOCK TRADE
AN ABNORMAL BASIS AGAIN

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Strength in the stock market today was unevenly distributed and trading followed several days of reckless speculation and violent price fluctuations today's stock exchange dealings assumed the character of calm after a storm. The oil, metal and related issues and the number of rails were bid up two points on the average.

The diversion in the oil followed the publication of the Marland figures for the third quarter. These made an excellent showing. There was a balance after interest, depreciation and depletion, but against $2.57 of $2.87 a share for the previous quarter. The Marland stock, which had been at $1.50, rose to $2.50, and the oil market followed it up very easily.

Other oil shares did not have as much of an advance as Marland but they were a long time past. There were gains of 1 to 3 points all along the line, taking in Pan-American, General Asphalt, Associated Oil, Mid-Continent, Pacific Oil, Atlantic Refining, Standard of California and Texas Co., the last named getting above $10.

Numerous falls made new high prices for the entire movement, among them New York Central, Louisville & Nashville, which at one time was up over 2 points; Southern Railway, which sold at the highest for all time, and Pere Marquette. Nashville & Chattanooga jumped 5 points and Gulf, Mobile & Northern went up sharply. There were advances of a point to a point and a half and more in Washoe, Erie, Chicago and North-western. Great Northern preferred, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific and Union Pacific.

Talk of increased dividends was back of the rise in Louisville & Nashville, and also in New York Central. The activity in Baltimore & Ohio was also directed upon increased dividend prospects. Tobacco Products A sold at the highest on record and the common stock went up over 3 points. Shares of farm implement companies were in demand—International Harvester and Advance Machinery. There was unusual activity in American Marine preferred, the five insurance stocks made new high, and it was said that the company's bonds were to be retired. Ford and Chrysler was bought.

The Bond Market.
NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—German bonds advanced to a new high in the market. They were active and generally firm. The feature of the foreign bond market was the first time in its history just before the close Monday. Other German obligations were carried along, such as the German Agricultural Bank, which touched par for the first time in its history just before the close Monday. Republic of Poland 5s were again in favor above 90, more than 4 points up from the low of the year. Greek 7s had a sharp rise on comparatively small transactions. It was noticeable that French bonds did not share the improvement manifested elsewhere in the foreign list, but, on the other hand, they did not weaken, so far having displayed indifference to the reaction in France.

In the South American group City of Montevideo 7s made a new high above 97 and there was new buying in Brazil 7s, while Brazil 5s were firm around par. The special move in Chile Mortgage Bonds 6 1/2s carried the quotation up above 95 also for a new high. Higher prices were recorded for issues of the rails, notably the Erie convertible D bonds, which were gaining over 10 points. San Francisco Income, and Sea-board Airline adjustments were others in demand. Norfolk & Western convertible 6s were up in sympathy with the stock. All convertible oil bonds were strong. One of the leaders being Sinclair 6s and another Skel 6 1/2s. There was a sharp reaction in Rogers-Brown Iron 7s.

Boston Wall Market.
BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Prices paid today in the wool market on good wool were higher. Southern American was wanted more freely. Sale of quartered wool, particularly Eastern, was active. The demand for short fine wool was not so strong.

ULTRA-VIOLET RAY EXPLAINED BY DOCTOR

Dr. Elkin Cumberbach of London Also Tells of Its Use in Treating Diseases.

Before lecturing to the faculty of Washington University School of Medicine yesterday afternoon, Dr. Elkin Cumberbach of London, a distinguished authority on electro-therapy, outlined to the Post-Dispatch, for the improvement of public understanding, what the ultra-violet ray is and what it is doing and can be expected to do in the combat with human disease.

"First," Dr. Cumberbach said, "it is so far has been established as a cure for only one disease—rickets (a product of malnutrition in children). It is an aid in treatment of numerous others. It is a valuable stimulant for debilitated children. It is beneficial in the treatment of lupus (tuberculosis of the skin). It is used with profit in treatment of tuberculosis of the bones, joints and glands. It helps some skin diseases, such as acne and multiple boils. It tends to heal superficial septic poisonings.

Used by Many Practitioners. "This much we know. In England the ultra-violet ray has come into use by practitioners of the highest standing. It now is the subject of further close research by the purists of the profession. Still, there is much vagueness in the layman's understanding of what the ray is and even the profession is inclined to looseness in discussing it. It has been credited with spectacular things, but it should be regarded at this time as an auxiliary rather than a primary treatment.

The therapeutic qualities of sunlight have been recognized from the days of Roman solarium. It is only recently, however, that it was discovered that the rays of the solar spectrum, which have most influence upon body cell growth, are the ultra-violet rays, the coldest of the spectrum, and that a means of reproducing those rays artificially in an arc lamp consisting of a vacuum quartz tube containing mercury vapor was invented.

The invention of that lamp marked the abandonment of sunlight as a therapeutic agent. The ultra-violet rays of the sunlight that reach the streets of the average city have lost most of their potency. Only on high mountains in rarest atmosphere, do the rays reach the body in sufficient strength to exert healing influence. So we have turned to this new lamp to give us "artificial sunlight" to gain the full strength of the beneficial ultra-violet rays.

Chemical Action on Blood. "Not only do we feel certain that the ultra-violet ray stimulates the growth of body cells but we feel also that it has certain chemical action upon the blood which lends vigor to the body. Perhaps its effect is most noticeable upon the languid, tired child. The ultra-violet ray quickens and brightens that sort of chill most perceptibly.

"May I not correct what seems to be a general impression upon the public by the name of violet ray machines, which the public wrongfully concludes, give ultra-violet rays. They are attachable to a lamp socket and give forth in a vacuum tube of various shapes a lurid violet electric flame. One is presumed to use them like an electric massage machine.

"These are not ultra-violet rays at all. It is sufficient to say that not only are ultra-violet rays invisible, but they cannot pass through glass. The machines that are popularly sold are high-frequency electric sparks, which may have some psychic effect but little other. They are not the ultra-violet ray and have none of its benefits."

Six Years for Stealing Auto. Special to the Post-Dispatch. POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., Oct. 26. —Luther Moore of Morehouse, was found guilty by a jury in Circuit Court here yesterday on a charge of having stolen an automobile and was sentenced to serve six years in the State Penitentiary.

THE DIVINE LADY

"The Divine Lady" is the story, partly fiction but largely based on fact, of Lady Emma Hamilton, the Englishwoman of lovely birth who became one of the best known and most talked about women in all Europe.

CHAPTER FORTY-SEVEN.

It was night and they sat together in the room of the mirrors looking out into the quiet dark. The lights of the ships were twinkling far off, and a broad moonlight floated translucent on the bay. She wore her evening dress and jewels with a bandeau about her beautiful brow, rimmed with pearls and inscribed with his name. Sir William had fallen asleep for sheer exhaustion in his study, and Nelson's face was haggard with fatigue. Some officers were still in the next room discussing the events of Naples and the near sailing of the fleet.

"A wonderful, wonderful time it has been," she said, leaning on the window sill, the moonlight and the low lamplight lighting her face. "Oh, Nelson, it was the greatest time of my life. There can never be such another."

"And it was all Emma's doing!" he said, looking into her eyes. "He had taken to calling her by name as Sir William always did in speaking of her to him. It had come to be an openly acknowledged friendliness."

"My doing? No. The world's doing. You have the world at your feet. It rings with your honored name."

"You put it there!" he said, and clasped her hand. "We can't tell it wholly as yet for the Queen's sake, but whether I live or die, the world shall know one day that the Nile was Emma's battle. Not a gun would have been fired but for my friend."

"Ah, you say that now"—her eyes were like moonlight themselves, moonlight-brimmed, soft, mysterious—"but you leave in a few days, and you will forget. You will go back to Norfolk and be so happy with your wife that all these days together will seem like a dream."

"I shall never forget," he said steadily. "There is not a thought I can think in future but is inspired by you, bound up with you. You are the most wonderful woman I ever met."

"Your wife?"
"My wife is all that is valuable. I honor the ground she walks on. She is a wife to make a good home. But you—God knows what you are you dazzle me. Honor that is you. Courage. You again. Wisdom, daring—all, all are you. I can't tell you from England in my thoughts. You inspire me."

She turned and looked at him with moonlight eyes.
"You love England?"

"I love you," he said hoarsely, the very veins in his wounded temple throbbing.

"You love your wife," she insisted softly.

"I love you—you!" A pause, and the moonlight flooding the room—it bathed it, reflected from the great mirrors that brought the sea and sky about them.

She took her hand in hers and they looked at each other. Not a word, scarcely a breath. Slowly, slowly her eyes drew his—their faces were close, her breath was warm on his lips, her lips warmer. They kissed.

Shattering noise in the room. A chair knocked rudely over. Josiah Nisbet, wild with wine.

"Sir, you're my commanding officer, and I know I lay myself open to court martial, but you're my mother's husband, and I swear I'll die sooner than you shall carry on like this with another woman in her absence, be she who she may. Madam, you should be ashamed for yourself."

The shouting, the noise, the horrible! Emma shrank back against the window, wordless, the drunken cub! Nelson caught him with his arm as he advanced roughly on her.

"Josiah, you're drunk, give over, or I'll send you on board under arrest!"

But still he stormed on, shouting, raving, the suspicions of days taking head in mad insults to his stepfather and the Ambassador.

The faithful Troubridge heard it from the next room and dashed in. "Nisbet, good God!—come away! My Lord! Madam! Take no notice! He is mad drunk, Nisbet, if you don't come away, I'll knock you down."

Still foaming out insults, Troubridge got him to the ground, and roughly secured his arms behind his back. Gag him he could not, and still the hoarse shouting continued. Emma, on a signal from Nelson, had slipped out of the room, and Troubridge shouted for Capel and they dashed cold water over his head and got him away in a half pome, half drag, frenzy to the water-side and to a boat and on out of sight and hearing. A burlesque in a way. Men laughed in the wardrooms of the ships when they heard it, and not one but said the cub should be turned adrift after all his stepfather's goodness to him and endurance of his fat-head follies.

Yet also, there was not an eye but watched the beauty and the Admiral the closer when they were together, not an ear but was lengthened to catch the drift of gossip from that day on.

Josiah called next day and made his humble apology. He had been overtaken by drink in honor of the great victory and could not recall a single word he had said. Inexcusable, yet would the Good Angel of the Fleet forgive the unforgivable?

With forced kindness that covered a pale rage and shame she forgave him for fear of worse, even wrote friendly letters of him in a letter to his mother a few days later, dreading what he might have said in that quarter. Nelson refused to see him. The insult to his commanding officer covered that.

But what, what had he seen, was her question to herself. That could neither be guessed nor opened up, and it left her face to face with her own judgment. Believe it or not, what will, that kiss burnt on Emma's lips, seething body to the cheek with the heat of memory. She knew. As a wretch, climbed from the quicksands dimpling and quivering beneath him. Knows their horrors, their slow unfolding of the doomed man's body and soul, where another who has never struggled in them sees but the glassy pools on the surface and fears to wet his feet, so it was with Emma. A kiss! A word! She knew what dumb horrors might lie beneath a light approach, and trembled. But it could not help her. When the quicksands have the man by the foot, and a kiss a woman by the heart, what safety? The day before the Fleet left, the lovers for so indeed they were, met alone in the room of mirrors.

"Will you remember me?" Will you, she wrote, dropped.

"Yes," she whispered, and half choked on the thought of his going.

"We must write!" he said in his half excuse. "There will be sharp work at Naples yet, and only you to guide it and protect the Royal."

"But I have you to help me," she insisted, clinging to his hand as if for life. A pause—then very slowly:

"Emma, did that cub sicken you at me, or reveal your heart to you? Have you avoided me the last few days for love's sake or fear?"

"Was I ever afraid?"

"Then it was love?" You feared your own heart?

Suddenly she flamed out gloriously.

"I don't fear my own heart. I love it because it loves me. Nelson. No, how can we love each other too much? We love the same thing, glory and great deeds. We must love each other. But we will be true. I would not wrong my dear Sir William for all the wide world—no, not even for you three more to me than any world."

"Good God—you're right!" he cried. "We can love each other and let it drive us on to deeds that will make the world look and worship. Inspire me, for your mine, mine! But I will be true to my wife and you to your good husband, and we'll set an example of duty as well as of honor for all to see. My own, own Emma!"

He clasped her in his breast and drowned her in kisses—such kisses as had never yet touched her lips, and she should be a judge. His heart, his soul, his fiery honor, burns in every one. And behind them stood Fate, and laughed cruelly in her sleeve at the old, impossible attempt to square the circle.

Still foaming out insults, Troubridge got him to the ground, and roughly secured his arms behind his back. Gag him he could not, and still the hoarse shouting continued. "Then it was love?" You feared your own heart?

Suddenly she flamed out gloriously.

"I don't fear my own heart. I love it because it loves me. Nelson. No, how can we love each other too much? We love the same thing, glory and great deeds. We must love each other. But we will be true. I would not wrong my dear Sir William for all the wide world—no, not even for you three more to me than any world."

"Good God—you're right!" he cried. "We can love each other and let it drive us on to deeds that will make the world look and worship. Inspire me, for your mine, mine! But I will be true to my wife and you to your good husband, and we'll set an example of duty as well as of honor for all to see. My own, own Emma!"

He clasped her in his breast and drowned her in kisses—such kisses as had never yet touched her lips, and she should be a judge. His heart, his soul, his fiery honor, burns in every one. And behind them stood Fate, and laughed cruelly in her sleeve at the old, impossible attempt to square the circle.

Still foaming out insults, Troubridge got him to the ground, and roughly secured his arms behind his back. Gag him he could not, and still the hoarse shouting continued. Emma, on a signal from Nelson, had slipped out of the room, and Troubridge shouted for Capel and they dashed cold water over his head and got him away in a half pome, half drag, frenzy to the water-side and to a boat and on out of sight and hearing. A burlesque in a way. Men laughed in the wardrooms of the ships when they heard it, and not one but said the cub should be turned adrift after all his stepfather's goodness to him and endurance of his fat-head follies.

Yet also, there was not an eye but watched the beauty and the Admiral the closer when they were together, not an ear but was lengthened to catch the drift of gossip from that day on.

Josiah called next day and made his humble apology. He had been overtaken by drink in honor of the great victory and could not recall a single word he had said. Inexcusable, yet would the Good Angel of the Fleet forgive the unforgivable?

With forced kindness that covered a pale rage and shame she forgave him for fear of worse, even wrote friendly letters of him in a letter to his mother a few days later, dreading what he might have said in that quarter. Nelson refused to see him. The insult to his commanding officer covered that.

But what, what had he seen, was her question to herself. That could neither be guessed nor opened up, and it left her face to face with her own judgment. Believe it or not, what will, that kiss burnt on Emma's lips, seething body to the cheek with the heat of memory. She knew. As a wretch, climbed from the quicksands dimpling and quivering beneath him. Knows their horrors, their slow unfolding of the doomed man's body and soul, where another who has never struggled in them sees but the glassy pools on the surface and fears to wet his feet, so it was with Emma. A kiss! A word! She knew what dumb horrors might lie beneath a light approach, and trembled. But it could not help her. When the quicksands have the man by the foot, and a kiss a woman by the heart, what safety? The day before the Fleet left, the lovers for so indeed they were, met alone in the room of mirrors.

"Will you remember me?" Will you, she wrote, dropped.

"Yes," she whispered, and half choked on the thought of his going.

"We must write!" he said in his half excuse. "There will be sharp work at Naples yet, and only you to guide it and protect the Royal."

"But I have you to help me," she insisted, clinging to his hand as if for life. A pause—then very slowly:

"Emma, did that cub sicken you at me, or reveal your heart to you? Have you avoided me the last few days for love's sake or fear?"

"Was I ever afraid?"

"Then it was love?" You feared your own heart?

Suddenly she flamed out gloriously.

"I don't fear my own heart. I love it because it loves me. Nelson. No, how can we love each other too much? We love the same thing, glory and great deeds. We must love each other. But we will be true. I would not wrong my dear Sir William for all the wide world—no, not even for you three more to me than any world."

THE TOWN DANCE

I CANNOT dance the Charleston. For I'm too old to try; But I could dance the Newport. When I was young and spry. In fact these modern dances "I do not care to trip. But, boy, you should have seen me Tear off the Boston dip!"

"Army Has Two Sets of Backs." An extra set of arms and legs might come in handy, too.

See where Mantell played the grave-digging scene from Hamlet in plus-fours. Which, in a manner of speaking, links the past with the present.

To further modernize the scene, it might be well to show the First Grave-Digger going after Yorrick's skull with a mashie-niblic.

"New Military Ruler Captures Shanghai." Well, that's something to crow about.

The traffic cop who was polite to John D. is richer to the extent of seven bright new dimes. That's the way Woolworth got his start.

ON WITH THE DANCE! The St. Louis dancing teachers have put their O.K. on the Charleston. That's a step in the right direction.

"Says Everybody Breaks Some Law Within 24 Hours." That, we take it, is according to the law of averages.

"Wealthy Maharajah Stirs Serene Geneva." There seems to be an epidemic of Maharajahs.

As Secretary of War Mr. Davis might wield as much influence in a World Court as he has in the tennis court.

NO CHANCE

See where Chicago threatens to secede and leave the State of Illinois flat on her back. Is the rebel yell to echo once more in the land?

We sympathize with Chi as we know just how she feels but we will have to continue taking orders from those country slickers.

See where the Cubs won the World's championship of Cook County. Not so bad for tail-enders.

Owner Wrigley announces that he is willing to spend a million on the Cubs. Indicating that chewing gum will win out in the stretch.

At that there are worse ball teams than the Cubs. But not in the National League.

MELLON'S NEW TAX
PLAN PUTS LEVY
OF ONE PER CENT
ON $3000 INCOMES

Rate Increases to 3 Per Cent on Next $4000 and
Then 5 Per Cent on More Than $7000.

CUT ON EARNED
INCOME ELIMINATED

Surtaxes Begin at One Per Cent on $13,000 and Go to 20 on Incomes Exceeding $150,000.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Varied forms of tax relief were sought by a number of organized interests through representatives appearing before today's sessions of hearings before the House Ways and Means Committee.

Nine organizations were allotted time today by the committee, which will hear all parties interested in the proposed tax reduction measure before starting work a week from Monday on the drafting of the bill.

The Treasury, meanwhile, has definitely included in its suggestions for tax reform the repeal of the provision of the present law, allowing a 25 per cent reduction in the tax on earned income up to $10,000. This was presented in a new schedule of normal tax rates submitted by the Treasury to the committee and differing materially from that presented on the first day, when the committee heard
Secretary Mellon and other Treasury officials.

The committee at that time did not get the impression that the Treasury was proposing a repeal of the earned income provision and some of its members, after a hasty review of the new schedule, admitted yesterday, said they foresaw little support for the repeal in Congress.

The new schedule upon which the committee now is informed the Treasury bases its estimate of a $140,000,000 cut in the income tax revenue, would start the normal tax at 1 per cent on the first $3000, with 3 per cent applying on the next $4000 and 5 per cent on all over $7000.

This compares with the rates even Monday of 1 1/4 per cent on the first $4000, 3 per cent between $4000 and $8000, and 5 per cent on all over $8000.

Proposed Surtaxes.
The surtax rates proposed would begin at 1 per cent on the sum between $13,000 and $15,000, and go up gradually to 20 per cent on all over $150,000. The surtax rates as set out in the schedule are:

One per cent.	$13,000 to $15,000.
Two per cent.	$15,000 to $17,000.
Three per cent.	$17,000 to $19,000.
Four per cent.	$19,000 to $21,000.
Five per cent.	$21,000 to $23,000.
Six per cent.	$23,000 to $25,000.
Seven per cent.	$25,000 to $27,000.
Eight per cent.	$27,000 to $29,000.
Nine per cent.	$29,000 to $31,000.
Ten per cent.	$31,000 to $33,000.
Eleven per cent.	$33,000 to $35,000.
Twelve per cent.	$35,000 to $37,000.
Thirteen per cent.	$37,000 to $39,000.
Fourteen per cent.	$39,000 to $41,000.
Fifteen per cent.	$41,000 to $43,000.
Sixteen per cent.	$43,000 to $45,000.
Seventeen per cent.	$45,000 to $47,000.
Eighteen per cent.	$47,000 to $49,000.
Nineteen per cent.	$49,000 to $51,000.
Twenty per cent.	all over $51,000.

Business Men Heard.

Representatives of business and industry were in general accord yesterday in asking repeal of the estate and gift taxes, reduction of the surtax rates and repeal of the provision permitting publicity of income tax returns.

James A. Emery, spokesman for the National Association of Manufacturers, presented a program recommending reduction of the maximum surtax to 20 per cent, repeal of the gift and estate taxes and the publicity section, and reduction of the excise levies.

Before the committee today the American Bankers' Association asked for repeal of a provision under which the grantor of a trust is compelled to pay tax on the income of the trust if he retains power to control the trust.
